THE FLIGHT OF A MOTH

By EMILY POST

The author of "The Flight of a Moth" has taken as the heroine of her book an attractive young American widow who has secured liberty to do exactly as she pleases. She has an enthusiastic, pleasure-loving temperament, and has very little chance for either in her childhood, and none at all in her married life.

At the point where the book opens she has just laid aside her mourning for her husband, who exacted even further obedience to conventionality than had her relatives, and for the first time in her life finds herself in the position where she can do as she pleases. The idea of her own liberty seems too wonderful to be true, and she packs up her things and starts off for Europe with no one but her maid. She feels free and reckless, and cares for nothing but to make up for lost time and amuse herself to the extent of her ability.

The things she does and sees and thinks; her great social success, and what happens to her in the end, is, of course, the plot of the book.

IMPORTANT

This book will sell, anyway. But, to gain time, we shall introduce this clever story to the public by special methods, as the author is unknown.

THE LOVES OF MISS ANNE

By S. R. CROCKETT

Author of "The Lilac Sunbonnet," "Strong Mac," etc.

The Loves of Miss Anne do not make a serious story. But then a serious story is sometimes dull, and there is nothing dull about The Loves of Miss Anne. A good many men fall in love with her, and the man who wins her has a very steep and difficult path to tread. There is not a dull page nor an unpleasant thought in the story, and it is as breezy and wholesome as the Highlands themselves.

THE NAUTICAL LAYS OF A LANDSMAN

By WALLACE IRWIN

Author of "The Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum," etc.

The widespread popularity of "The Love Sonnets of a Hoodlum" serves as a good introduction to a new volume of Mr. Irwin's extremely clever and amusing nonsense jingles.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON'S

NEW NOVEL

B E V E R L Y
OF
G R A U S T A R K

By the Author of

"Graustark," "Castle Cranecrow," etc.

The Mail and Express, in a long review of this book, makes the statement, "that of all the current stories by favorites of the 'best-selling-novel' period, this is by far the best and most entertaining;" that the book is eminently readable, and that it is superior to Graustark. This is also the judgment of many others.

Early orders indicate that this book is to be one of the great successes of the year.

THE NEW STORY BY

JEROME K. JEROME

Author of "Three Men on Wheels," "The Second Thoughts of An Idle Fellow," etc.

"The book is really delightful; it is full of Mr. Jerome's characteristic humor. I should not wonder much if the book proved to be one of the most successful that Mr. Jerome has yet written. It is quite as humorous and a great deal better in point of art than was his 'Three Men in a Boat,' and that has sold by the hundred thousand."—N. Y. Times.

GOD'S GOOD MAN

A SIMPLE LOVE STORY

THE NEW NOVEL BY

MARIE CORELLI

Author of "A Romance of Two Worlds,"

"The Master Christian," "Thelma," etc.

Ready September 24th

The English publisher writes:

"The book promises an extraordinarily large sale. Our country orders actually exceed those of any previous work of the author. After having read the book we believe it is just the kind of story which will be thoroughly appreciated by the general public on both sides of the Atlantic."

The novel is much on the lines of "Thelma."

THE

LOVES OF EDWY

A ROMANCE OF TO-DAY

By ROSE CECIL O'NEILL

With over Sixty Illustrations by the Author. Beautifully bound, 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

Just PublishedOrder At Once

THE two "Loves of Edwy" are his bosom friend and his sweetheart, and the fortunes of all three are woven into a romance of surpassing interest. Pathos and humor are exquisitely blended in this story. There is not a dull page in the book, and it may be confidently asserted that nothing so original has been produced in this country in many years. The sixty-four pictures by the author (who is well known as an illustrator) add very greatly to the book's value.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

By MARGARET SIDNEY

Author of the Famous Pepper Books "LITTLE MAID OF CONCORD TOWN," "SALLY, MRS. TUBBS," Etc.

Eight Illustrations by EUGENIE M. WIREMAN. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

THERE were so many interesting friends of the Five Little Peppers, whose lives were only the faintest of outlines in the series ending when Phronsie was grown up, that a volume devoted to this outer circle has been written to meet the persistent demand.

Herein the author records many happenings that long ago Ben and Polly, Joel and David, told her. And even Phronsie whispered some of it confidentially into the listening ear.

LONG BRIDGE BOYS

By W. O. STODDARD, Author of "AHEAD OF THE ARMY," "JACK MORGAN," Etc. Four Illustrations by I. B. HAZELTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.25 postpaid.

IT tells the story of an actual attempt made by the Confederates of Virginia, just prior to the outbreak of the Civil War, to seize the city of Washington by force of arms and make prisoners of President Lincoln and other high government officials.

LOOKING FOR ALICE

By WALTER BURGESS SMITH. With over Forty Illustrations by C. HOWARD. 4to, cloth, $1.25 postpaid.

A LITTLE girl named Harriet descends through an old well into the land of dreams, to look for Alice of Wonderland, and meets with adventures no less astonishing than those of Alice herself.

DORIS FARRAND'S VOCATION

By ("PANSY") MRS. G. R. ALDEN. Four Illustrations by ERNEST FOSBERY. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

DORIS is a college girl who tries to be of use to others, and with this aim in view introduces into her family, as student help, a poor young man who is working his way to a higher education. In the end Doris's protégé helps her to make the right decision in a great moral crisis, and she finds that he, and not her worldly-minded fiancé, is her true affinity.

Two Famous Authors

NOAH WEBSTER L. FRANK BAUM

AUTHOR OF

It may be of interest to the trade to know that the new issue of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary has sold beyond our most sanguine expectations. It has been the policy of the publishers not to make announcement of the number of copies sold of their various publications, but we may say that if the Unabridged shipped since it came out in its new form were forwarded all at one time it would require two big freight trains to haul them. If piled one on another they would make the Eiffel Tower look like a pigmy. It would take one press, printing sixteen pages at a time and running night and day, two years to print the books. This may give you some idea of the success of the venture.

This New Edition of the Unabridged should not be confounded with Webster's International, which is generally known as the leading authority in the English language. The Unabridged has been modernized and enriched by a New Supplement (copyright 1903), which brings the work well up to date and adapts it to those who require a dictionary at once of high quality and low price.

If each printed page brought in a ten dollar bill there would be a nice profit in the business, but such is not the case. As a matter of fact, the Unabridged is sold in a very thin margin, which enables the public to procure a good working dictionary at a price formerly paid for the spurious reprints.

The second year of the New Edition of the Unabridged has begun with the field fairly clear of the old and unreliable competition. It will be of interest to all to know that the standard of manufacture, prices and terms remain the same. Dealers are handling the book at a good profit and find it pays to keep the Unabridged—the book they were "brought up on"—in stock. It retails at just the right price—exactly meeting the popular demand.

LEE & SHEPARD'S NEW BOOKS

An Interesting Colonial Novel

The Knitting of the Souls

A Romance of 17th Century Boston

By MAUDE CLARK GAY

Six illustrations in colors by Frank T. Merrill. 375 pages, $1.50

While Virginia and its neighboring States have been so freely drawn upon in the field of Colonial fiction, the impressive early history of Boston has remained undeveloped by novelists of sufficient power, with the exception of Hawthorne, to do it justice. Maude Clark Gay has found here a triumphant opportunity, and her book will at once take rank with the strongest American fiction of recent years, and is in a number of respects worthy the high claim of being better than any previous Colonial novel. The hero is Kenneth Brooks, foster-son of Governor Bellingham; the heroine Lady Virginia, the fair and noble wife of an unworthy commissioner sent by Charles II. to suppress the too rapidly increasing self-government of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Ten years elapse between the banishing of Brooks for his fearless championing of right and the honorable attainment of his soul's desire, sternly held in check by the power of a Puritan conscience. King Philip's War, with all its horrors, is interwoven with the climax of the story, and enables the hero to vindicate himself, as well as reach his great happiness. Various well-drawn side-plots add to the intense interest of the book, which abounds in dramatic situations, and compels attention by its force and feeling, and pleases by its accurate historical grasp, its graceful diction, and the unusual attractiveness of its illustrations, which are not only the best work of Mr. Merrill, but are put in colors by a process far superior to ordinary color printing.

A Book for Everybody

Daily Cheer Year Book

Compiled by M. ALLETTE AYER

Introduction by Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D. 366 pages, over 800 selections. Portrait frontispiece, laid paper, cloth with gold, gilt top, price $1.00, net; postpaid, $1.10. Edition de Luxe, burnt leather binding, all handwork, price $2.00, net; postpaid, $2.10.

Each day in the year is provided with a page of wonderfully well chosen extracts from the best writers. Nothing to compare with the bright good cheer and good sense running through this book has ever before been prepared, even though there have been a number of books along similar lines. On account of its fine binding and general appearance, it will be in great demand as a gift book suitable for all.

There has been an urgent demand for Mr. Stratemeyer to write a life of our present President, and this been done with a care and a faithfulness certain to win immediate appreciation everywhere.

THE BOY COURIER OF NAPOLEON.

A Story of the Louisiana Purchase.

By WILLIAM C. SPRAGUE. Illustrated. Large 12mo. Price, $1.50.

William C. Sprague, the notably successful editor of "The American Boy," has given for the first time the history of the Louisiana Purchase in entertaining story form.

THE YOUNG VIGILANTES.

A Story of California Life in the Fifties.

By SAMUEL ADAMS DRAKE. Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

Col. Drake has put much of his personal recollection into the story and knows what to tell and how to tell it.

ON THE TRAIL OF PONTIAC;

Or, The Pioneer Boys of the Ohio.

Fourth volume of the "Colonial Series." By EDWARD STRATEMEYER. Price, $1.25.

In this volume are related the particulars of the conspiracy of the noted Indian chief Pontiac immediately after the war with France for the possession of Canada.

MAKING THE NINE.

Second volume of the "Phillips Exeter Series." By A. T. DUDLEY. Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

The leading boys' athletic book of last season was the great football story, "Following the Ball." Its cordial reception has led to this second book, in which baseball is sufficiently prominent to suggest the title.

JACK TENFIELD'S STAR.

A Story for Boys and Some Girls.

By MARTHA JAMES. Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

That Jack is capable of being his "own star" well expresses the excellent thought of the book, which is remarkable for variety of well-told incidents.

TWO YOUNG INVENTORS.

The Story of The Flying Boat.

By ALVAH MILTON KERR. Author of "Young Heroes of Wire and Rail." Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

Here is a rattling good story. Mr. Kerr has written a tale of mystery, mechanism and getting on in the world that will be a boys' favorite for years.

YOUNG EXPLORERS OF THE AMAZON;

Or, American Boys in Brazil.

Fourth volume of the "Pan-American Series." By EDWARD STRATEMEYER. Illustrated. Price, $1.25.

Five bright youths and their tutor land at Rio De Janeiro, and visit the principal cities along the coast, and from Bahia they journey up the mighty Amazon.

LARRY THE WANDERER;

Or, The Rise of a Nobody.

By EDWARD STRATEMEYER. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

This is a plain tale of every-day life, written especially for boys and girls who do not care particularly for stories with an historical or geographical background.

JASON'S QUEST.

By D. O. S. LOWELL, A.M., M.D., Master in Roxbury Latin School. Illustrated. Price, $1.00.

Nothing could be happier than Professor Lowell's way of telling this famous world-story, and the many excellent drawings have lent great spirit to the narrative.

HELEN GRANT'S FRIENDS.

Second volume of the "Helen Grant Stories." By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS. Illustrated. $1.25.

Although a complete story in itself, this continues the life of the heroine from "Helen Grant's Schooldays."

AN HONOR GIRL.

By EVELYN RAYMOND. Illustrated. $1.25.

A bright helpful story of a girl who, as the valedictorian and "Honor girl" of her class at high school, wins a scholarship which would take her through Wellesley College.

A LASS OF DORCHESTER.

By ANNIE M. BARNES. Illustrated. $1.25.

The "Lass" is "Little Betty Blew" of a former book, now grown up and just returned from Boston, where she has been to finish her education.

THE LAUREL TOKEN.

A Story of the Yamasee Uprising.

By ANNIE M. BARNES. Illustrated. $1.25.

The story centers about a beautiful girl, left an orphan, as is supposed, in Barbados, who goes to live with her uncle, a leading man in the flourishing "Goose Creek" colony, in the year of the Indian uprising, 1714.

RANDY'S GOOD TIMES.

By AMY BROOKS. Fifth volume of "The Randy Books." Illustrated. $1.00.

All the favorite characters of former books reappear, and the story is full of fun and gaiety, and of love and loyalty as well.

DOROTHY DAINTY AT SCHOOL.

By AMY BROOKS. Third volume of "Dorothy Dainty Series." Illustrated. $1.00.

The school life proves very entertaining, and mostly very pleasant. The rescue of Nancy Ferris, who disappeared in the last story, forms an important and very interesting feature.

THE MAKING OF MEENIE.

By EDITH L. GILBERT. Illustrated. $1.00.

"The Frolicsome Four" won immediate favor last year by its bright naturalness. The same entertaining family of two brothers and two sisters appear in this book.

THE CHILDREN ON THE TOP FLOOR.

By NINA RHOADES. Illustrated. $1.00.

No more pleasing books for children have been written in recent years than those by Miss Nina Rhoades.

THE TAMING OF BETTY.

By CALLY RYLAND. Illustrated. Large 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

Betty is as bright as can be, but a thorough romp. Love subdues her after sternness fails.

HOW A LITTLE GIRL WENT TO AFRICA.

Told by Herself.

By LEONA MILDRED BICKNELL. Fully illustrated. $1.00.

A bright little girl of unusual opportunities in the way of travel has, at the age of ten, written a book to tell other children of a journey of remarkable interest.

STORIES OF BRAVE OLD TIMES.

Some Pen Pictures of Scenes Which Took Place During the American Revolution.

By HELEN M. CLEVELAND. Profusely illustrated. $1.25.

A few unsigned articles in "Youth's Companion" first attracted attention to Miss Cleveland as a portrayer of the dramatic in history. The late Daniel Ford said of them, "fresh, vigorous, dramatic, and picturesque." These words most aptly describe her ripper work in this book.

Some Interesting Revell Book Notes for the Coming Season

THE PROSPECTOR—the new work by the popular author of "The Sky Pilot," promises to be the book event of the season. Entering a new section of country for plot and scene, the author fully sustains his reputation, and undoubtedly will add to his already large number of admirers.

Ralph Connor
$1.50

DOCTOR LUKE OF THE LABRADOR—the first complete novel by Norman Duncan retains all of the charm and subtlety which have made his magazine stories of the Newfoundland folk so popular. Strong, simple, sincere, it goes to the "human heart by which we live."

Norman Duncan
$1.50

DENIZENS OF THE DEEP—is by the author of "The Cruise of the Cachalot," etc. What Thompson Seton has done for land animals Mr. Bullen does for the dwellers of the sea. The fascination of his style, added to his intimate knowledge of their lives and habits, make the book intensely interesting—more so because of our lack of knowledge of this subject.

Frank T. Bullen

LITTLE MISS DEE—in uniform style with "The Bondage of Ballinger," is a delightful New England tale which exhibits a development in Mr. Field's power as a moralist. It makes an appeal alike to heart and mind; yet, so simply is the story told, that it contains all the elements of great popularity.

Roswell Field
Illustrated, $1.25

CHILDREN OF THE FOREST—a story of Indian love by one whose name is intimately connected with life among the Indians of the Canadian provinces, ensures not only a work of thrilling interest but one full of reliable character study. His earlier works, "My Dogs in the Northland," "On the Indian Trail," etc., have already won much favor.

Egerton R. Young
Illustrated, $1.25 Net

THAT SWEET STORY OF OLD—A Life of Christ for Young People, is a well-illustrated volume, containing the ever new life of Christ retold. The large expectation created by this favorite author's name on the title page is fully sustained in the work itself. It is a charming narrative for all readers, young or old.

Margaret E. Sangster
Illustrated, $1.25

IF I WERE A GIRL AGAIN—is a volume that will appeal strongly to feminine readers. The book has tinted border designs throughout, and is a handsome gift book, similar to Margaret E. Sangster's "Winsome Womanhood," which has attained such great popularity.

Lucy E. Keeler
$1.00 Net

LITTLE ROYALTIES—is a unique volume of stories about the child rulers of Europe, written for the children of the rulers of America. Fully illustrated from rare old prints and noted paintings.

Isabel McDougall

Crowell's New Books

Messages of the Masters

By AMORY H. BRADFORD, D.D. Silent Times Series. Illustrated. 16mo, plain edges, 65 cents ; gilt top, 85 cents net. Postage, 8 cents.

This book of appreciations of great paintings and their lessons has proved so helpful and popular since it was first issued a few months ago that a cheaper edition has been deemed desirable. The present edition, however, is printed from the same plates and pleasingly bound. The illustrations are in half-tone.

Dames and Daughters of the French Court

By GERALDINE BROOKS, author of "Dames and Daughters of Colonial Days." Illustrated. 12mo, gilt top, $1.50 net. Postage, 15 cents.

Many interesting and picturesque figures cluster about the throne of France, and not a few of these "dames and daughters" exerted a wide effect upon history. The treatment of this attractive theme could not be in better hands than Miss Brooks's.

Ruskin Relics

By W. G. COLLINGWOOD, author of "The Life of Ruskin." Illustrated. 232 pp., large 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50 net. Postage, 25 cents.

Mr. Collingwood was Ruskin's biographer and friend. This is an important supplementary volume of reminiscences, chatty anecdotes, Ruskin drawings, and other "relics" of interesting nature. The work is one of value in collecting fugitive material of Ruskin not before given to the public.

The Greek Poets

An anthology edited by NATHAN HASKELL DOLE. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00 ; half calf, $3.50 ; limp seal, $4.50.

Mr. Dole's mature, scholarly work on "The Persian Poets" is here worthily followed by a highly important study of the place and value of all the Greek poets, with full examples of their writings, in the best English translation. The volume contains biographical sketches, notes, and indices ; it commends itself at once as a much-needed text-book and work of reference.

The Life of Frederic William Farrar

Sometime Dean of Canterbury. By his son, DR. REGINALD A. FARRAR. With new portraits and illustrations. 360 pp., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00 net. Postage, 20 cents.

Among the interesting life-stories now in great demand the present volume takes prominent place. Dean Farrar was one of the strongest personalities in England for more than half a century. This biography by his son is replete with material never before published. The Outlook says of it: "This will rank among the important biographies of our times. It is a noble picture of a sincere, stainless, strenuous life that filial reverence has here presented—that of a rich-hearted man, beloved both as a teacher of boys and as a teacher of men ; a rich-minded man, affluent in the treasures of learning and the gifts of imagination."

Synopses of Dickens's Novels

By J. WALKER McSPADDEN. Handy Information Series. 250 pp., 18mo, cloth, 45 cents net. Postage, 5 cents.

A companion volume to "Shaksperian Synopses," and a work of no less practical utility. Each novel of Dickens is synopsized, and complete lists and index of characters are given for the first time.

Crowell's New Books

Finding the Way

By J. R. MILLER, D.D. 16mo, plain edges, 65 cents net; cloth, gilt top, 85 cents net. Postage, 8 cents.

A Western paper says tersely and truly: "Dr. Miller's writings are read because he has something to say, and says it." Above a million copies of his works have been issued, some of them being translated into German, French, Hungarian, Japanese, and other languages.

Poetical Works of William Morris

Selected and edited by PROF. PERCY R. COLWELL, with introduction, notes, bibliography, and photogravure portrait. 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $2.00; half calf, $3.50; limp seal, $4.50.

Morris's life and work extended over the better part of the nineteenth century. His work as decorative designer and maker of art volumes, or his position in public life, would have sufficed to bring him forward, independent of his writing. As a poet he ranks with Swinburne and Rossetti among the chief ornaments of the Victorian era. These carefully selected poems will show him at his best, and will widen his circle of American readers.

Twenty Famous Naval Battles

By E. K. RAWSON, U. S. Navy Department. Illustrated with plans, old prints, maps, and portraits. 12mo, cloth, $2.00.

In answer to a general demand from readers this well-known book of battles, from Salamis to Santiago,—a "Creasy on the sea"—is now available in a single-volume edition, well printed and illustrated.

The Wealth of Nations

By ADAM SMITH. Condensed edition, with introduction, notes, and index by HECTOR MACPHERSON. 260 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.00 net. Postage, 10 cents.

For more than a century and a quarter this great economic work has remained a classic—the one high authority in its field. "Few books in the world's history have exerted a greater influence," says one specialist. The present condensed edition in a single volume is of practical value. Smith's own language has been preserved, the omissions being in the nature of anecdotes and local color no longer essential. It is fully indexed and summarized.

A Bachelor in Arcady

By HALLIWELL SUTCLIFFE, author of "Mistress Barbara." With frontispiece and title in colors. 326 pp., 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

A delightful novel of nature which has elicited whole-hearted praise from critics and readers everywhere. One of the most prominent and dispassionate reviews says: "The season will probably bring forth no better book of its kind than 'A Bachelor in Arcady.'" Its quiet philosophizing and kindly humor are of singularly restful type.

Minute Marvels of Nature

By JOHN J. WARD. With 185 illustrations. 272 pp., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, $1.60 net. Postage, 15 cents.

The author, an expert naturalist, here gives us a series of peeps through his powerful microscope at forms of plant and animal life. Large pictures on plate paper reinforce simple and absorbingly interesting descriptions. The language is nowhere technical, and the book is of unique and stimulating character.

TWENTIETH CENTURY JUVENILES

NEW VOLUMES

A series by the best authors. Copyrighted and fully illustrated.
Separate cover design for each book.

Dorothy's Spy; A Story of the First Fourth of July

By JAMES OTIS. Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

Describes the scene in New York when Washington assembled his troops to listen to the Declaration of Independence. A small girl named Dorothy Dean gets mixed up in the procession, helps unwillingly to pull King George's statue down, and incidentally gets her best frock spoiled. A fine historical story for children.

Little Metacomet

By HEZEKIAH BUTTERWORTH. Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

"Little Metacomet" was the son of the Indian King Philip; he was deported, although good John Eliot tried to save him. His life in the woods with the small animals and birds of New England is picturesquely set forth.

It All Came True

By MARY F. LEONARD, author of "How the Two Ends Met."

Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

"It All Came True" is another story of neighborliness by this pleasing writer. A poor little rich girl, having no one to play with except her governess, envies some happy children across the street, and they in turn call her a captive princess. How the princess is rescued from her lonely life is the theme of a delightful story.

Stories of the Good Greenwood

By CLARENCE HAWKES, author of "The Little Foresters."

Net, $0.60. Postage, 8 cents.

The children will be glad to follow this entertaining story-teller again to the woodland. He tells of woodcraft; of tracks in the snow and how to tell them; of a pet coon that grew wild again; and many other things that one wants to know about. The book is even better than "Little Foresters."

CHILDREN'S FAVORITE CLASSICS

NEW VOLUMES

Among the many books written for young people, few possess a greater merit, or have a wider popularity, than the 43 volumes comprised in this series. This new uniform style, containing many illustrations and additional features not contained in any other edition, is the most attractive form in which they have ever been issued. For those desiring wholesome books to put in the hands of children, no better series than this can be found. New style of binding. Fully illustrated, including colored frontispiece and vignette title. Printed wrappers. 16mo. Per volume. $0.60

Stories of King Arthur. By U. WALDO CUTLER.

Robin Hood. By J. WALKER McSPADDEN.

Two of the best known themes in all literature, for young and old, are those of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table; and Robin Hood and his Merry Outlaws. New, entertaining versions of these classics, copyrighted by us, are worthy of attention.

A Splendid New Novel by the Author of "The Strollers" and "Under the Rose"

The speculative convulsion in New York at the time of Jay Gould's gold corner and the volcanic eruption of the Paris Commune are the two great dramatic events which Mr. Isham has chosen for the moving forces of his new story.

Some of his characters are drawn from imagination; others are life-like studies of the master people of the time. There is marvelous charm in the romance that shows the author at his best throughout.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY
PUBLISHERS, INDIANAPOLIS

IMPORTANT NEW BOOKS

FICTION.

Fata Morgana

By Andre Castaigne.

A novel of American art students and others in Paris. Illustrated by the Author.

A striking and unhackneyed narrative, romantic, picturesque, dealing with a fascinating phase of Parisian life and also with a certain charming and heroic myth of one of the little countries bordering on the Adriatic. Mr. Castaigne's illustrations, of course, are of notable interest.

(12mo, 450 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The Staying Guest

By Carolyn Wells.

Illustrated by W. GRANVILLE SMITH.

A charming tale, this, of a quaint and startling but loving and lovable child, easily one of the cleverest child characters in fiction. It is a book for young and old.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Ellen and Mr. Man

By Gouverneur Morris.

With frontispiece by LEON GUIPON.

This is a delicious tale of a sweet girl and her two lovers, one a fine young Frenchman, the other a little lad who speedily holds the center of the stage and wins the largest share of the reader's affections.

(12mo, 200 pages. Price, $1.25.)

The Gray World

By Evelyn Underhill.

This is an unusual story, the remarkable narrative of a London slum child's reincarnation. How the memory of the "gray world" influenced all this second existence is well told.

(12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The River's Children

By Ruth McEnery Stuart, Author of "Sonny," "Napoleon Jackson," "Holly and Pizen," etc.

Illustrated by HARRY C. EDWARDS.

This is a story of the men and women who live along the Mississippi and who love and fear the Great River as a mysterious, insatiable, relentless, merciless power. It is an idyl of the Great River, of delicate and delicious humor, of rare sweetness and tenderness.

(16mo, 175 pages. Price, $1.00.)

Sonny: A Christmas Guest

By Ruth McEnery Stuart.

With fourteen illustrations by FANNY Y. CORY, and an initial for each chapter.

The atmosphere is the same that has always enveloped Mrs. Stuart's work, and there is the same pervading sweetness of spirit and the same delicate humor, always wavering on the narrow border between laughter and tears.—Bookman.

(12mo, 135 pages. Price, $1.25.)

The Youth of Washington: Told in the Form of an Autobiography

By S. Weir Mitchell, Author of "Hugh Wynne," etc.

"The Youth of Washington" is neither bald history nor pure fiction; the larger historic facts are true, the fiction a daring form of commentary.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

The Madigans

By Miriam Michelson, Author of "In the Bishop's Carriage."

Illustrated by ORSON LOWELL.

The Madigans are six of the most active, daring, original, and clever youngsters that ever stirred up a household. A few chapters from this story of their doings are enough to enliven the dullest day.

(12mo, 300 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Paths of Judgment

By Anne Douglas Sedgwick, Author of "The Rescue," "The Confounding of Camelia," etc.

This is a dramatic character study; and the four chief characters are unusual and fascinating men and women.

(12mo, 346 pages. Price, $1.50.)

ART.

Italian Villas and Their Gardens

By Edith Wharton, Author of "The Valley of Decision," etc.

With fifty illustrations in color and in black and white, by MAXFIELD PARRISH, and from photographs.

This is a sumptuous and almost an ideal book, containing full and vivid descriptions of all the more notable Italian villas, the illustrations being of rare beauty and interest. It is the art-book of the year.

(Printed in two colors on special plate paper. Royal octavo, 275 pages. Price, $6.00 net; postage, 27 cents.)

VERSE.

Poems and Verses

By Mary Mapes Dodge.

This collection is representative of the choicest and ripest work of this favorite author.

(16mo, 250 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage 8 cents.)

ESSAYS, BIOGRAPHY, ETC.

Thackeray's Letters

TO AN AMERICAN FAMILY.

With an introduction by LUCY W. BAXTER.

Perhaps the most charming of all Thackeray's letters are these, making a volume, with its facsimiles of manuscripts and drawings by the author, which every Thackeray lover will treasure.

(Octavo, 193 pages. Price, $1.50 net; postage, 10 cents.)

Presidential Problems

By Grover Cleveland, ex-President of the United States.

Just what the title and the author's name would promise—a clear, vigorous discussion of some of the vital questions which pressed upon Mr. Cleveland for settlement during his years in the White House.

(Octavo, 300 pages. Price, $1.80 net; postage, 16 cents.)

Essays, Biography, etc.—Continued.

Modern Methods of Book Composition

By Theodore L. De Vinne.

This book, the work of the head of living printers, is invaluable for every writer, printer, and editor. (12mo, 477 pages. Price, $2.00 net. Postage, 15 cents.)

The Art Crafts for Beginners

By Frank G. Sanford, Director of the Chautauqua Arts and Crafts Department.
Illustrated by the Author.

This book should prove invaluable as a suggestive little manual for all interested in art crafts.

(Square 12mo, 250 pages. Price, $1.20 net. Postage, 9 cents.)

A Transplanted Nursery

By Martha Kean.

Illustrated with over sixty photographs.

The story of a most unusual and rather audacious experiment which proved to be a complete success: how an American mother decided to take her three little lads for a summer sojourn in Brittany instead of making the usual pilgrimage to the Maine coast. Snap-shots and pen-pictures have recorded this delightful summer abroad.

(12mo, 275 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.)

The American Constitutional System

By W. W. Willoughby, Associate Professor of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University.

With chapters on "The Nature of the Federal State," "The Power of the United States to Acquire Territory," "Citizenship," etc. A book of great value to every citizen.

(12mo, 320 pages. Price, $1.25 net.)

City Government in the United States

By Frank J. Goodnow, Eaton Professor of Administrative Law and Municipal Science, Columbia University.

A practical book for Americans interested in the improvement of the government of cities. Chapters on "The City as a Social Fact," "State Control of Cities," etc.

(12mo, 320 pages. Price, $1.25 net.)

The Principles of Economics

By Frank A. Fetter, Ph.D., Professor of Political Economy and Finance, Cornell University.

This survey of the field of economics is intended primarily to serve as a text for the use of college and university students, but it presents also to the citizen and general reader a summary in one volume of the latest contributions to economic study.

(Octavo, 306 pages. Price, $2.00 net.)

The Awakening of Japan

By Okakura-Kakuzo, Author of "Ideals of the East."

The remarkable story of how Japan has awakened from her mediæval slumbers. All readers of this entertaining volume will echo the author's epigrammatic utterance that "the Yellow Peril" is a white lie. The distinguished author is at present connected with the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

(16mo. Price, $1.40 net. Postage, 10 cents.)

NEW ISSUES IN

THE THUMB-NAIL SERIES.

Exquisite little volumes in embossed leather bindings designed by Blanche McManus Mansfield.

As You Like It

Following the Cambridge text, and with an interesting frontispiece portrait of Shakespeare.

Romeo and Juliet

Following the Cambridge text, and with an interesting frontispiece portrait of Shakespeare.

An Old English Christmas

With frontispiece portrait of Washington Irving.

(Size 2¾ by 5½ inches. Price, each, $1.00, in box)

JUVENILES.

The Brownies in the Philippines

Verse and pictures by Palmer Cox.

Perhaps the best and funniest of all these jolly Brownie books. (Square, 144 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Baby Elton, Quarter-Back

By Leslie W. Quirk.

A rattling good book for boys. (Illustrated. 12mo. Price, $1.25.)

Lucy and Their Majesties

By B. L. Farjeon.

Just the prettiest, jolliest book for healthy youngsters written in many a day. (12mo, 350 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Mary's Garden and How It Grew

By Frances Duncan.

A practical treatise on making a flower-garden, interestingly told in the form of a story. (Square 12mo. Price, $1.25.)

Elinor Arden, Royalist

By Mary Constance Du Bois.

A charming tale founded upon an actual incident in the life of the Princess Henrietta Anne. (12mo, 283 pages. Price, $1.50.)

Kibun Daizin; or, From Shark-Boy to Merchant Prince

By Gensai Murai.

The stirring story of a popular Japanese hero. (12mo, 175 pages. Price, $1.25.)

Captain John Smith

By Tudor Jenks.

A book which should become the standard history of Captain John Smith for young Americans. (12mo, 259 pages. Price, $1.20 net; postage, 11 cents.)

INDEX TO FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this list publishers' announcements are indexed by author, title or subject and series. Titles already recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY have been generally excluded.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds." particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

Fuller information of the books announced will be found in the publishers' advertising pages, index to which is given on page 575.

The Publishers' Weekly

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT

SEPTEMBER 24, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE FALL OUTLOOK.

STANDING at the threshold of another fall season the conviction grows that the outlook upon business in general is hopeful rather than otherwise. In every direction there is a better feeling in most branches of trade, and, basing their prophecy upon statistical comparisons, the two most important commercial agencies in this country—Dunn and Bradstreet's—predict much better conditions for the second half of the current calendar year than existed during the first half. Liabilities and insolvencies are shrinking, railway earnings are increasing, crop prospects are decidedly improving, much of the work that has been held back by strikes and other causes is being carried forward, many new enterprises are under way, and, in general, the nerves of the business community are steadier than they have been for many years. As for the bugbear of the presidential election, that promises to have but little effect upon the business world this year.

The publishing world this fall is large with promise—indeed, if all the books of which we have had word, and which we are presenting in our Index to Fall Announcements in this issue, are brought out between now and next February, the booktrade must prepare to face a deluge. Fortunately, many of the books announced will, for one reason or another, as usual, have to lie over for another season; but there will be enough left to cause the buyer many an uncomfortable and anxious moment.

From a commercial aspect the books announced show possibilities of no mean order. The country is interested as never before in its own history, and a number of publishers have gone deeply into valuable works dealing with the sources of American history. A presidential election makes the large number of books—dealing with the candidates and with all the problems of finance, imperialism, tariff, capital and labor and trusts that will require their executive word—good stock from one end of the Union to the other. The war in the Orient interests the world, and the many books on the two opposing nations, on the attitude of the great powers of the world towards the questions to be settled, on the practical maintenance of great armies and the great progress in shipbuilding for warfare will surely be sought for.

From a literary standpoint the best is not so easily selected. Fiction seems less in number and American authorship of the highest grade is a feature in its announcements. Religion and ethics have come more to the front than in recent years, and the departments of history and biography fairly bristle with great names and cover some of the most interesting periods of the world's history. In pure literature the essay has again been given an important place, and criticisms of one living author upon another stir expectation.

Publishers have shown courage and discrimination; booksellers must therefore show the same spirit, tempered by the same good judgment, and general prosperity and ever-widening interest will bring the readers of America to make many of the forthcoming books successful investments as well as lasting educational factors.

MAY CONTROL SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS.

ANDREW S. DRAPER, Commissioner of Education of the State of New York, at Albany, on the 19th inst. upheld the right of the authorities of a school to exercise control of the policies and business management of a publication which is held to represent the school.

The matter came before him for decision on an appeal of Helen Clark from the action of the Board of Education of Monticello Union Free School District No. 1, in the town of Thompson, Sullivan County, in sustaining the action of the principal of the school in suspending from school Mrs. Clark's son, Matthew J. Clark, who was the leading spirit in the publication of The High School Mirror. Young Clark had refused to submit when the principal of the school directed him to turn over the management of the paper to an organization of the pupils, alleging that the publication was a personal affair.

Commissioner Draper says that he was in error here, as the paper stood for the school, and thus was not a private affair, but subject to public authority.

COMMUNICATIONS.

HINTS AS TO BILLING PROTECTED NET BOOKS.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Will you kindly call the attention of publishers to the necessity of billing their protected net books to dealers in such manner that they may recognize them without having to consult bibliographies? In the busy season there is no time for doing so. Such books should either be charged on special bills, clearly designating the fact that these books are to be sold at full price, or by distinguishing marks, to be generally introduced, plainly marked as protected net books, otherwise dealers cannot conform with the rules of the Publishers' Association and may unwittingly break their agreement to do so.

Another unbusinesslike proceeding is the omission of the retail price on many publishers' invoices. The dealer's time can be more profitably employed than by looking up prices in catalogues. Few publishers add authors' names to the titles, which is very annoying also.

L.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ELIZABETH LUTHER CARY in the October Scribner's Magazine gives an interesting sketch of the work of Henry James, the novelist.

It has just been made public that George Barr McCutcheon, the author of "Graustark," etc., is the author of "Brewster's Millions." The forthcoming new issue will bear the author's name.

SIDNEY LEE writes to the London Athenaeum, saying: "I read in both English and American newspapers that I am engaged in writing a life of George Eliot. There is no truth in the statement, and I am at a loss to understand how it has come into circulation."

PROFESSOR EDWARD GAYLORD BOURNE, of Yale University, is engaged upon some important and peculiarly distinctive historical work in the interests of A. S. Barnes & Co.'s notable Trail Makers Series, which is under the consulting editorship of Professor John Bach McMaster.

THE REV. CHARLES WAGNER, author of "The Simple Life," etc., arrived in New York on the 17th inst. He will deliver a series of lectures while in this country. He is a delegate to the Peace Congress at Boston, and will not start on his tour until the congress is over. He is now already booked for twenty lectures for the month of October, beginning October 7.

GEORGE WHARTON JAMES, author of "Indians of the Painted Desert Region," published a year ago, is at work on a book on the Colorado desert. Professor James has established a desert home where he and his artist make their headquarters. Nearby his "shack," located in the canyon, there is a hot spring with water constantly flowing at a temperature of about 107 degrees. With pack burros Professor James and the artist start off on their frequent trips over the desert, exploring every part.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

GEORGE D. HURST, New York, has just brought out an edition in half-leather binding of "The Stowmarket Mystery," by Louis Tracy, author of "The Wings of the Morning."

THOMAS WHITTAKER is about to bring out "Day by Day Duty," a new volume of short, practical sermons by the Rev. H. J. Wilmot Buxton, whose homilies are widely known to lay readers both here and abroad.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, will publish on October 15 "Broke of Covendon," by J. C. Snaith, of which they have secured the American rights. This book has been hailed by the English critics as a masterpiece and Mr. Snaith as one of the coming writers.

HENRY E. LEGLER, of Milwaukee, Wis., has just reprinted in separate form, from the Transactions of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, (vol. xiv.), his very interesting sketch of "A Wisconsin Group of German Poets," to which is added a bibliography.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have just ready an idyl of boyhood life by Clarence S. Darrow, entitled "Farmington." Mr. Darrow is well known as an active figure in law and politics, but this book is said to be far away from anything of this kind, and is in fact full of charming fancy and wholesome humor.

THE AMERICAN UNITARIAN ASSOCIATION will reprint this fall the original six-volume edition of the works of William Ellery Channing, as prepared under the supervision of Channing himself. A biographical and critical introduction has been prepared for this edition by John W. Chadwick.

THE PRESS OF "THE ROSE JAR" will publish on October 1 "The Confessions of an Old Maid," a humorous narrative by Lou Lawrence. It is described as "a pure story of the life of an unmarried woman of to-day and strips the sham sentiments, which are common to humanity as well as to old maids, of much of the veil which enshrouds them."

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, Ohio, have in preparation a new story by Frank E. Kellogg, author of "Four Boys on the Mississippi," which will be entitled the "Boy Fisherman." It is equally full of the spirit of the woods, being an account of the obstacles encountered by two boys who set out to earn their own living by fishing on the Mississippi.

THE ROBINSON, LUCE COMPANY, Boston, will publish about October 15 "Little Burr, the Warwick of America," a tale of the old Revolutionary Days, by Charles Felton Pidgin, author of "Blennerhassett," etc. They also call attention to the "Letters from a Son to His Self-Made Father," by Charles Eustace Merriman, which, though published nearly a year ago, is still selling steadily.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have in preparation a new book by Mary Caroline Crawford, author of "The Romance of Old New England Roof-trees," entitled "The College Girl of America." Miss Crawford is herself a Radcliffe graduate, and is thus enabled to write with an intimate personal knowledge of college life, its aims, its pleasures, and its influence on womankind. The book will contain many full-page illustrations taken from photographs of various colleges, types of college girls and representative college scenes.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish at once a new volume of stories and sketches by Charles Battell Loomis, under the title of "More Cheerful Americans," with illustrations by Florence Seovel Shinn, Fanny Y. Cory and others; "Divine Fire," a story by May Sinclair, the scenes of which are laid in London and at various English country houses, where the hero, a Cockney poet, meets a woman of sincerity, humor, tolerance and penetration; also, Carl Bruneck's "Prince Henry's Sailor Boy," a story for children, translated by Mary J. Safford.

THE CENTURY COMPANY announce a novel by André Castaigne, the well-known Parisian painter and illustrator. The story will be entitled "Fata Morgana," and will draw much of its material from the artist and student life of Paris. They will bring out next month "Baby Elton, Quarter-back," a story of college athletics, by Leslie W. Quirk, a University of Wisconsin man, who writes of sports from a Western standpoint. His intimate knowledge of sports and his ability to describe them he gained while following the various athletic teams of his university during his college course for a local paper.

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY have just ready a new novel by George Barr McCutcheon, entitled "Beverly of Graustark." The volume is illustrated in colors by Harrison Fisher; "The Revelation of Herself," by Mary Farley Sanborn; "Our Friend, the Dog," by Maurice Maeterlinck, author of "The Life of the Bee," etc., illustrated by Paul J. Meylan, and painted decorations by Charles B. Falls; "Minnows and Tritons," by B. A. Clarke, an illustrated story for boys; also, a new edition of "The Practice of Charity," by Edward T. Devine, Ph.D., general secretary of the Charity Organization Society of the City of New York.

A. J. HOLMAN & Co., of Philadelphia, now print their Family Bible in six different languages, in styles that will appeal to the most modest as well as the most fastidious taste. They have just ready a new German Teachers' Bible, with newly engraved maps in colors and with the names in German. Their new Pronouncing Bible, both for the general reader and the teacher, and their Linear Parallel Bible are meeting with favor wherever introduced. They have also just ready a "Life of Christ for Little Children," by Mary Mein Carter, with illustrations from the great masters of painting, and illuminated after parchments of the 15th century.

GEORGE D. SPROUL will bring out in October an edition of the Bible in five folio volumes with one hundred illustrations from original drawings by Abbey, Alma-Tadema, De Brozik, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, Benjamin Constant, Walter Crane, Gérôme, Israels, Max Liebermann, Morelli, Villégas, Puvis du Chavannes and others equally prominent. The reproductions have been made in photogravure, (11 x 14 inches,) by Lemerrier, of Paris. The text is that of the St. James version, without addition or omission. An edition of the work is also issued in Latin, and will be imported on order.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY announce "Among the Burmans," by H. P. Cochrane, describing the land, people, customs and religions of Burma, with illustrations from photographs taken by the author; "Tom Keenan, Locomotive Engineer," the autobiography of a veteran railroad man who assisted in building up the railroad men's Y. M. C. A.; also, "Little Royalties," by Isabelle McDougall, stories of ten little kings and queens, which are sure of a welcome by young people. They have just issued on Index Volume to the twenty-eight volumes comprised in the New Testament section of "The Biblical Illustrator."

JAMES POTT & Co. have just published a volume of critical and biographical studies entitled "Studies of a Booklover." The author, Thomas Marc Parrott, Professor of English in Princeton University, attempts to indicate for Matthew Arnold, for example, a place beside Tennyson and Browning, and to explain the limitation of Gray's genius. Among the biographical essays are sketches of Dr. Johnson and Goldsmith. Essays from Milton's works have been selected and arranged in such fashion as to permit the poet to give his own account of his life. There is a brief note on the romanticism of Scott, and the volume concludes with a paper on certain aspects of Browning.

ROHDE & HASKINS, 16 Cortlandt Street, New York, announce for early publication "Friends for the Friendly," by Annie M. Jones, in Japanese vellum binding, gold-stamped; also, "Books and My Food," by Elizabeth Luther Cary, author of "The Rossettis," "Browning," etc. They will bring out shortly "Toasts and Tributes," compiled by Arthur Gray, who has also edited "The Little Tea Book" and "Bathrobes and Bachelors," etc. Mr. Gray's new book aims to be more complete than most of its predecessors in the same field, and contains a chapter on "The Duties of a Toastmaster," by Allan Forman. Sixteen pages at the end are left blank to be filled in by purchasers with original or selected toasts.

CLIFFORD & LAWTON, 19 Union Square, New York, will publish on October 15, under the title of "Interior Decoration," a portfolio containing fifty-five views of interiors, mostly contemporary and mostly American, classified by decorative periods, ranging from Egyptian to Art Nouveau, interesting and useful to all who are concerned in decorating or redecorating houses. The plates are carefully reproduced in half-tone and printed in superb photo-brown tint. They have just ready "The Rug Primer," describing 143 oriental rugs, and containing a colored map of the oriental rug countries. Persons interested in oriental rugs who wish to know a little more about them will find in this booklet just what they want stated succinctly and clearly.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY will publish early in October the "Life and Adventures of Jack Philip, Rear Admiral U. S. N.," by Edgar Stanton Maclay, with an introduction by Captain Alfred Thayer Mahan, U. S. N. This work first appeared in 1903 as a memorial volume, having among its contributors many distinguished naval officers and civilians. The new work has been entirely rewritten so as to be in continuous narrative form. One of its lasting features is Philip's own story of the Santiago sea fight, told in a modest, simple, unaffected style which cannot fail to enlist the interest and admiration of the reader. No officer of the navy occupies a larger place in the affection of the American people than the hero who, in the flush of victory, exclaimed: "Don't cheer, men, those poor devils are dying."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish on October 4 Rudyard Kipling's new book, "Traffics and Discoveries." This is the first volume of collected Kipling stories brought out since "The Day's Work." The book contains one long story, "The Army of a Dream," hitherto unpublished, embodying a remarkable picture of the British army; the remarkable story "They," which has aroused such wide discussion; also, "Wireless," "Mrs. Bathurst," "Their Lawful Occasions," "The Bonds of Discipline," "The Captive," "The Sahib's War" and "Below the Mill Dam." They will bring out at the same time "The Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee," edited by his son, Captain Lee. The work reveals intimately, for the first time, in letters to his family and old-time war comrades, General Lee's attitude after the war.

THE JOHN W. LUCE COMPANY, a new publishing firm, at 209 Washington Street, Boston, have secured from the Robinson, Luce Company "The Foolish Dictionary," by Charles W. Towne, ("Gideon Wurdz.") of which a third edition is now ready. By arrangement with Robinson, Luce Company they will issue on October 15 "Fires of St. John," a drama by Hermann Sudermann, translated into English by Charles Swickard. This play had its first presentation in English last season by Nance O'Neil in Boston, and was described as the strongest work of this German author. They will publish on November 1 the second volume in their Foolish Series, entitled "Stealthy Steve, the Six-Eyed Sleuth," with the sub-title of "Quest of the Big Blue Diamond." This satirical detective story ran serially in the Boston Post last year, and the book rights are secured by arrangement with the Post and the author, Newton Newkirk.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready "At the Moorings," Rose N. Carey's new novel; "A History of the World," in which Charles Morris has condensed the principal facts of history, together with such interpretations as to serve to bring them within the comprehension of younger readers; "Loves and Lovers of the Past," by Paul Gault; "Shakespeare's Town and Time," a new book by H. Snowden Ward and Catherine Weed Ward, authors of the very popular volumes "Carlyle Country" and "The Dickens Land," published last year; "Memoirs of Emma, Lady Hamilton," edited by W. H. Long, with a large number of illustrations; also, a book about cats by Miss Sarah E. Trueblood, entitled "Cats by the Way," which deals with cats of every kind—not the aristocratic animal of the bench show, but the pussy of the fireside, the kitchen, and the sitting-room cushion, with scores of little pictures of the cat scattered through the book.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on October 1 a new book by Ernest Thompson Seton, entitled "Monarch, the Big Bear of Talac," which will contain eight full-page wash drawings and nearly one hundred of Mr. Seton's characteristic line marginals to illustrate the story, which is the longest animal story the author has yet written. They will publish shortly "By Conduct and Courage," a rattling story of the glorious days of Parker and Nelson, the last of the celebrated Henty books ever to be published; an exquisitely illustrated edition of Mary Mapes Dodge's well-known book, "Rhymes and Jingles," to which the author has added no fewer than eighteen new poems, which will be gotten up uniform in style with Riley's "Book of Joyous Children," with illustrations by Sarah Stillwell Stillwell; also, "Boys of St. Timothy," by Arthur Stanwood Pier, who has written an excellent story of American school life with an engaging humor and a sympathetic regard for boy nature. They will publish about October 1 Henry James's new international novel, entitled "The Golden Bowl."

FRANK W. CROWNINSHIELD, until the 1st inst. publisher of The Bookman, resigned that position to take charge of the business department of The Metropolitan Magazine. Mr. Crowninshield is well and favorably known to the publishing trade here through his connections with the Putnams and Dodd, Mead & Co. Born and educated abroad, his first venture in business was with G. P. Putnam's Sons in 1891, starting in their retail department as clerk, and being shifted around in nearly all the departments, including the art, manufacturing and publicity departments. In 1896 he joined the forces of Dodd, Mead & Co. After The Bookman was started Mr. Crowninshield became the head of its publishing department, and to his originality and persistent effort the periodical owed much of its success. Besides managing the business affairs of The Bookman, Mr. Crowninshield was also the manager of the advertising department, always a trying position, but in which he made a host of friends through his thoroughly business-like methods and a charming personality that made even a "No" seem a favor.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co have just ready "The Apology of Ayliffe," by Ellen

Olney Kirk, an enjoyable love story, the scenes of which are laid in New York and a fine country place in Long Island Sound; "Compromises," by Agnes Repplier, which will appeal especially to lovers of wise and witty essays; "Where Does the Sky Begin?" by Washington Gladden, dealing with such subjects as the fulfillment of life, the permanent and the transient, the education of our wants, how to be sure of God, etc.; "The Rider of the Black Horse," by Everett T. Tomlinson, a stirring story for boys of the Revolutionary war, with illustrations by Seymour M. Stone; "The Flower Princess," by Abbie Farwell Brown, a delightful collection of stories for children, with six full-page illustrations and decorations; "A Third Century of Charades," by William Bellamy, of whose first books twelve and five editions, respectively, have been sold; also, the "River-side Graded Song Book for Elementary Schools," edited by William M. Lawrence.

LAIRD & LEE, Chicago, announce the following: "Turk," a striking romance of love and chivalry, by Opie P. Read, with a colored frontispiece and eight illustrations; "Santa Claus' Candy Circus," by Olive Aye, a lively animal book for children; "The Tale of a Tail," classic stories in rhymes, for children, by Annetta S. Crafts; "Glimpses of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition," giving full description of the great world's fair, of which 20,000 copies were sold in twelve days; "Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky's Strange Adventures," a humorous description of the St. Louis fair, with 105 comic illustrations; "Yellow Beauty," by Marion Martin, a story of cats, with illustrations by Madam Ronner; "Last Days of Lincoln, and other lyrical sketches," by John Irving Pearce, Jr., a collection of poems for students of character and lovers of nature; "Henry and Hora's Modern Electricity," a popular manual giving all the information on the subject that the artisan, apprentice and student desires to know; also, the sixth annual edition of "Laird & Lee's Diary and Time Saver," a vade mecum of general information.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish on October 8 a new book by Thomas E. Watson, the Populist candidate for President, entitled "Bethany, a Story of the Old South." In this volume Mr. Watson tells the story of his own people and his own neighborhood. It is founded on facts which came within his knowledge, the hero having been an uncle of his. The book is valuable as a picture of life in Georgia just before and during the early years of the Civil War. It is most notable in what it sets forth as to the minds and feelings of people who remained at home during the conflict. They have arranged to bring out a limited autograph edition of Admiral Schley's "Forty-five Years Under the Flag." Only 100 copies will be sold, and of these a large number have already been subscribed for in advance of publication. These copies will be bound in half morocco, with gilt top. They are now sending through the press at a rapid rate Hall Caine's "The Prodigal Son." The book itself will differ materially from the story as serialized. Not only has Mr. Caine carefully revised the entire manuscript, but the book will be at least one-third longer than the serial. "The Prodigal Son" is divided into seven parts and each part into seven chapters. Each part has as a motto a quatrain from FitzGerald's version of "Omar Khayyám."

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS have ready an entirely new series of Oxford Teachers' and Scholars' Bibles, with new and up-to-date helps, arranged under one alphabet, with new illustrations. They have also a line of text, reference, concordance and teachers' 16mo editions of the Bible, in large black-faced brevier type, printed on Oxford India paper, $6\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$ inches in size, and only one inch thick; also ten new editions of Prayer Books and Hymnals, printed on fine white and Oxford papers, and in an Oxford Elongated Red Rubric edition. A handsome new edition of the Altar Service, beautifully printed on Oxford white paper, is also among their announcements. In other lines they announce new and cheaper issues of the Oxford Edition of the Poets, each being in one volume, the Fireside edition of Charles Dickens's works in 22 crown octavo volumes with over 600 illustrations by Cruikshank, Phiz and others; the Oxford India Paper edition of Dickens's works in 17 volumes, fully illustrated; a new edition of the "Letters of Horace Walpole," edited by Mrs. Paget Toynbee, in three editions, in 16 demy octavo volumes, on hand-made paper, in eight double volumes, crown octavo, on Oxford India paper; and in 16 crown octavo volumes on ordinary paper; also, a miniature edition of Shakespeare's plays in one volume, and the Ellen Terry Miniature Shakespeare, in 40 volumes, bound in leather, divinity circuit.

SPON & CHAMBERLAIN have in preparation the following new books and new editions: the authorized revised seventh edition of Thompson's "Dynamo Electric Machinery," vol. 1; "Continuous Current Machinery," rewritten and considerably enlarged; Crotch's "Elementary Telephony and Telegraphy," in Finsbury's Technical Series; Bowker's "Practical Construction of Electric Railways," also, a work on the "Management of Electric Tramways and Light Railways;" Buchanan's "Foundry Nomenclature;" a third edition of Matheson's "The Depreciation of Factories," revised and enlarged; the second edition of Brown's "Organization of Gold Mining Business," revised and enlarged; a second edition of Goldingham's "Design and Construction of Oil Engines," revised and considerably enlarged; a second revised and enlarged edition of Jennings's "Paint and Color Mixing;" a sixth enlarged edition of Sexton's "Boiler Maker's and Shipbuilder's Pocketbook;" the twenty-fifth revised and enlarged edition of Molesworth's "Engineer's Pocketbook;" the second edition of Thompson's "Polyphase Electro Currents and Alternating Current Motors;" the ninth thousand of Watson's "How to Run Engines and Boilers;" the fourth thousand of Redwood's "Practical Ammonia Refrigeration;" a new and enlarged edition of Jordan's work "On Dry Docks," also, new editions of Butler's "Manufacture of Portland Cement," Buckley's "Irrigation Works in India," and Collett's "Water Softening and Purification."

MCCLOUD, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready "Debonnaire," a bright novel of America in Colonial days, by William Farquhar Payson, the author of "John Vytal." Mr. Payson's story is laid in Quebec and New Amsterdam. The hero is one Louis de Cadillac, known as Louis le Debonnaire because of his blithe spirit, who is really a relative of the royal Louis of France. The story tells how he made a wager with his messmates that he could win the hand of the fair Irene de Cadillac, belle of New Amsterdam and betrothed to Mynheer Van Bruch, governor of the Dutch city, and how by his wit and his cleverness with his sword he won the maid and his wager, too. They have also just ready Mrs. Garnett's translation of Tolstoy's novel, "War and Peace." This book, which has been long delayed on the press through the illness of the translator, is the third in the series which now already contains "Anna Karenin" and "Ivan Ilyitch." The aim is to put into the hands of English readers a translation of the great Russian master's works which shall present in an adequate manner not only the words, but the spirit of the originals. They have in preparation a volume that will surely be welcomed by all devotees of the automobile in "The Complete Motorist," by A. B. Filson Young, one of England's most noted automobile experts. The book is an account of the evolution and construction of the modern motor car, and gives a history of it from its very beginning in an awkward steam vehicle to its modern latest manifestation in the noiseless, mile-a-minute, eighty-horse-power machine. The book is a sparkling, interesting and enthusiastic piece of history writing, not a dry treatise on mechanics; a piece of literature imbued with the spirit and speed and exhilaration of automobilism. It contains a chapter contributed by Rudyard Kipling, and one by the author of "The Lightning Conductor" on the open road. It is a practical book on the selection, use and maintenance of the motor carriage and the mechanical facts concerning its engine and its maintenance.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish about the middle of October "The Practice of Self-Culture," by Rev. Hugh Black, the author of "Friendship" and "Culture and Restraint." The volume deals with the practical ways in which the self can be equipped for service. It contends that self-culture is not in itself a complete ideal for human life, but has its place as the necessary education to make a man's contribution to the world worthy. Some of the chapters deal with culture of the body, the mind, the imagination, the heart, the conscience, and the spirit. They will bring out at once "Doctor Tom: the Coroner of Brett," the first novel by Dr. John Streeter, who wrote "The Fat of the Land," and who in this new field gives a vivid account of a mountain feud in Kentucky; also, "Mass and Class," by W. J. Ghent, author of "Our Benevolent Feudalism," which is full of enlightening and suggestive distinctions between the various parts of the social body according to their several functions. They will publish towards the end of October a volume of short stories, entitled "Players and Vagabonds," by Miss Viola Roseboro, who is already well known for her fine, natural, human and delightful stories of player-folk; also, "Atoms of Empire," a new book by C. J. Cutcliffe Hyne, the creator of "Captain Kettle." Some time during November they will bring out the new volume by Daniel Gregory Mason, the author of "From Greig to Brahms." "Beethoven and His Forerunners" tells in untechnical fashion the story of the development of instrumental music up to its first great culmination in the work of Beethoven. In particular it sets forth the contributions made to pure music by Haydn, Mozart and Beethoven. In method it is partly historical and psychological, partly biographical. They will also publish during the fall a translation, by Professor Augustus Trowbridge, of Wisconsin University, of Professor Augusto Righi's latest and most important scientific work, under the title of "The Modern Theory of Physical Phenomena (Radioactivity, Ions and Electrons)." Professor Righi has read the translation and made certain corrections, so that it accords precisely with his present views.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just ready in The Woman's Library, edited by Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, Dr. Emma E. Walker's new book, "Beauty Through Hygiene." In her introduction Mrs. Sangster says: "Dr. Walker insists that beauty in women is to be obtained, heightened and held for a lifetime, through the instrumentality of hygiene. Here is the fabled fountain of youth and everyday reality." They will also publish this fall a volume entitled "In the Days of Chaucer," which will inaugurate an important new series on lines radically different from those of the conventional biographies. The aim is a picture of personality and environment. This life story of Chaucer sketches not only the daily life of the great poet, but also the England of his time and the manners, customs, institutions and happenings that helped to make him what he was and are reflected in his poems. The author, Tudor Jenks, has made a special study of the lives of certain of the greatest writers from the point of view of personality and human interest, and he is said to have succeeded in picturing a living personality instead of the abstraction outlined in conventional biographies. It is understood that "In the Days of Chaucer" will be followed by a similar picture of Shakespeare's life and times. They will publish in October "A Captain in the Ranks," the new novel upon which George Cary Eggleston has been engaged for a long time. This is not a novel of the Civil War, but aside from its romantic interest it pictures the building of the Middle West which went on so dramatically after the release of the armies by the closing of the war. Mr. Eggleston himself after serving in the war went to the Middle West, and was an actual part of a most striking phase of American life, full of picturesque material for the novelist. They will also publish shortly William Henry Shelton's new story, "The Three Prisoners," a true tale of adventure in the Civil War, in their popular East and West Series for younger readers. Mr. Shelton was a participant in the war. His story is said to tell the adventures of some boys and a school-master who became involved in the war and all manner of hairbreadth escapes in spite of themselves, and made their way out after many thrilling experiences by dint of ingenuity and pluck. Another promising book for younger readers which A. S. Barnes & Co. will issue this autumn is "The Island Camp, or, the Young Hunters of Lakeport," by that most popular juvenile writer, Captain Ralph Bonehill. This will be the first volume in Captain Bonehill's new Outdoor Series, which will be handsomely illustrated.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS call attention to their various editions of the American Standard Revised Bible. This version of the Scriptures may be had with or without teachers' aids in sizes ranging from twenty-fourmo in minion type to a long primer type, quarto size. All the editions may be had printed on fine white paper and also on Nelson's India paper, which ranks among the thinnest printing papers in the world. A pulpit edition is now in preparation, and will be published in November. Besides the American Standard Revised Bible they have also the King James version in over four hundred styles. Among these the leader is Nelson's Teachers' Bible, with concise Bible dictionary, concordance and indexed Bible atlas, forming a complete biblical library in a single volume. The Nelson's Sunday-school Scholar's Bible, with practical helps and a new Bible Catechism especially designed for young people, is also a particularly attractive volume. Their Prayer Books and Hymnals are put up in every imaginable style of binding and printed on white paper and on Nelson's India paper, with or without illustrations. Some new styles in white calf, white morocco and ivory have been designed for bridal and confirmation gifts. The oblong editions are dainty and unique. They have also "Altar Services" in imperial octavo, set in great primer type, conforming to the standard Prayer Book of 1892, and arranged with special regard for the convenience of the celebrant. Among miscellaneous books their New Century Library, printed on Nelson's India paper, takes the lead. This admirable series now contains the complete works of Dickens, Thackeray and Scott, and selected works by a number of the best authors. They have also a series of Pocket Dictionaries known as the E. F. G. Series, issued under the general editorship of G. F. Barwick, of the British Museum. The volumes are dainty forty-eightmos, (2¾ x 4 inches,) bound in linen, Venetian and Mosaic Persian. The volumes now ready include English, French and English, German and English, Italian and English, Spanish and English and "The Pocket Remembrancer." They also announce a line of Devotional Books, including "The Imitation of Christ," "Gold Dust," "Steps to the Altar," etc., and a line of Birthday Books, seventeen volumes, containing quotations from Browning, Burns, Shakespeare and other famous authors. For children they will have a line of Colored Toy Books at prices ranging from two cents each for a nicely-printed paper-covered book with colored illustrations to $2.25 for an exquisite edition of a popular fairy book with twelve full-page and numerous other illustrations.

LITTLE BROWN & Co.'s fall fiction includes the following: "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," a book of original character drawing, quaint humor, and homely philosophy, by Anne Warner, author of "A Woman's Will;" "The Princess Thora," an imaginative tale of a North Pole expedition, by Harris Burland, author of "Dacobra;" "Painted Shadows," a collection of new stories by Richard Le Gallienne; "The Wolverine," a romance of early Michigan, by Robert L. Lawrence; "Sweet Peggy," a summer idyl, by Linnie Sarah Harris; and a new popular edition of "The Golden Windows," Laura E. Richards's book of fables for young and old. Their illustrated holiday books include a limited edition of Rembrandt's etchings, with 50 full-page facsimile reproductions in photogravure of Rembrandt's most notable etchings, printed on Dutch hand-made paper, with descriptive text by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, and a complete annotated catalogue, introduction, and notes by Campbell Dodgson, of the British Museum; a handsome new edition of "The Poems of Dante Gabriel Rossetti," annotated by his brother, William Michael Rossetti, printed from new type, at the Astolat Press, on hand-made paper, and illustrated with 20 full-page photogravure reproductions of paintings by Rossetti; "Roma Beata," letters from the Eternal City, by Maud Howe, co-author of "The Story of Laura Bridgman," etc., with illustrations from drawings and photographs; a new illustrated edition of "The Old Masters and Their Pictures," by Sarah Tyler, with 20 full-page plates; a new illustrated edition of "The Intellectual Life," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, with nine plates. Their fall juvenile list is always a strong one, and this year includes eleven new titles, as follows: The last of the series of Anna Chapin Ray's "Teddy" books, entitled "Nathalie's Sister," a sequel to "Ursula's Freshman," published a year ago; "Irma and Nap," a story for younger girls, by Helen Leah Reed, author of the "Brenda" books; "The Boy Captive of Old Deerfield," beginning a new series of Colonial stories, by Mary P. Wells Smith, the well-known author of The Young Puritans Series, etc.; "The Story of Rolf and the Viking's Bow," by Allen French, author of "The Junior Cup," etc.; "The White Crystals," a story of the adventures of two boys, by Howard R. Garis; "In the Miz," by Grace E. Ward, consisting of seven fanciful and humorous stories, illustrated with eight full-page pictures in color, and numerous cuts in the texts, by Clara E. Atwood; "Little Almond Blossoms," by Jessie Juliet Knox, a book of stories of Chinese boys and girls, illustrated from photographs; "The Nursery Fire," by Rosalind Richards, profusely illustrated by Clara E. Atwood; "The Alley Cat's Kitten," an amusing book for children who love cats, by Caroline M. Fuller, fully illustrated; and "The Child at Play," little stories for the youngest readers, by Clara Murray, illustrated in color. Their miscellaneous books include "The Younger American Poets," a book of literary criticism, by Jessie B. Rittenhouse, with 12 portraits; "The Fires of St. John," translated from the German of Hermann Sudermann by Charlotte Porter, with illustrations from Nance O'Neil's production of the play; "The Little Book of Life After Death," translated from the German of Gustav Theodor Fechner, by Mary E. Wadsworth, with introduction by Professor William James; "Morning Thoughts to Cheer the Day," quotations selected and arranged by Maria H. LeRow; "The Monroe Doctrine," by T. B. Edgington, M.A., of the Memphis Bar; "The Expansion of the Common Law," by Sir Frederick Pollock; "Prayers Offered in the Senate," by Dr. Edward Everett Hale; and a new edition of "Kennel Secrets," by "Ashmont."

PICK-UPS.

AMONG a list of biographies ordered by one of our country customers was "Botherwell's Life of Jonathan." He expressed himself as exceedingly anxious to secure this work. R.

Two gentlemen in passing through a Western bookstore stopped in front of a pile of G. Stanley Hall's "Adolescence, its Psychology." One of them remarked to the other, "What is that?" The other replied, "Don't you know? Why Adolescence was a famous psychologist, and this work tells all about his system of psychology." The other replied, "I think you are wrong. I cannot tell exactly what it means, but it seems to me that 'adolescence' means 'hairy,' and I take it to be the psychology of the head." R.

ANOTHER customer mysteriously asked the book clerk for an unexpurgated edition of Mrs. Hemans's poems.

BOOKS WANTED.

Henry Holt and Company's September Fiction

Published at 29 West 23d Street, New York

Sinclair's DIVINE FIRE $1.50

When the Divine Fire strikes a Cockney, that most material of men, the results are bound to be interesting. The Cockney of this story becomes a real poet, and meets many people of all sorts, chiefly in London and in English country houses. The publishers are advised that the author shows sincerity, humor, tolerance, penetration and wide acquaintance with the life described.

Theodore Winthrop's MR. WADDY'S RETURN . . . $1.50
 Edited by BURTON E. STEVENSON.

A story with a strong love interest. The scenes are principally in Boston and Newport before the war. The tale centers about Mr. Waddy, his family traditions, his experiences in love, and his successful bid for a fortune in India. This novel not having been revised by the author was not included among his books which appeared shortly after his death. Mr. Stevenson, with the sanction of the author's sister, has endeavored to do for the book what the author would have been likely to had he lived.

Loomis' "MORE CHEERFUL AMERICANS" . . . $1.25
 With illustrations by FLORENCE SCOVEL SHINN, FANNY Y. CORY,
 F. R. GRUGER, and MAY WILSON WATKINS.

Another volume in the vein of the author's "Cheerful Americans" which is already in its seventh impression. In this new book he tells of Americans who succeeded against heavy odds, and of others, including tramps, who were cheerful even in Suburbia; and he gently satirizes many matters of to-day, including popular songs, golf, labor unions and nature study, winding up with a merry paper on "How to Write a Novel for the Masses."

Canfield's FERGY THE GUIDE, and his Moral and Instructive Lies about Beasts, Birds and Fishes . . . $1.50
 Illustrated by A. D. BLASHFIELD.

These "lies" do not stretch the credulity much harder than some of the serious stories of animal intelligence. Some fifty sketches by Albert D. Blashfield ably assist the author in smashing the verities.

Bacon's (J. H.) PURSUIT OF PHYLLIS $1.25

A genial, humorous romance of travel in England, France, China and Ceylon. The hero, ordered abroad for his health, finds a package of letters in a hotel bureau drawer, and on a whim tries to find the girl to whom they are addressed. H. Latimer Brown contributes pictures of pursuer and pursued.

Two Stirring Stories of Naval Adventure for Boys
 Bruneck's PRINCE HENRY'S SAILOR BOY . . . $1.50
 Freely translated and adapted by MARY J. SAFFORD. Illustrated by GEORGE ALFRED WILLIAMS.

Bruneck might be called the German Henty. This is the story of Claus Erichsen, whom Prince Henry is supposed to save in the Baltic Sea. The duties, perils, fun, and frolic of a lad in the German navy are faithfully described. He has many adventures, crosses the Equator, passes through the Suez Canal, visits Japan, China and Africa.

* * This is to be followed in October by

Costello's NELSON'S YANKEE BOY

A vivid story of Trafalgar and of our own War of 1812. Strikingly illustrated by W. H. DUNTON. $1.50.

FREE ON APPLICATION. The Publishers' Illustrated Leaflet of their Recent books or their Catalogue of General Literature (with Portraits).

DOUBLE HARNESS

Anthony Hope, in this novel of married Londoners, draws a tremendous picture of smart society in the center of the world. It's as sparkling as "The Dolly Dialogues," and as romantic as "Zenda." Besides, it shows "a knowledge of character and motives that is beyond the reach of mere cleverness," says the London Bookman. A high-minded young girl marries a man, not much better nor much worse than most English society men. They can't see things the same way. And their trouble forms an intense human drama.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THE BRETHREN

Rider Haggard, who startled the English-speaking world with his romances of adventure, "She" and "King Solomon's Mines," gives, in this story of feudal England and the crusades in Palestine, a generous measure of adventure, of romance, and of "startle." "The Brethren" are two English knights who love the Sultan Saladin's niece, Rosamund. They follow her to Palestine. Strange and exciting are their encounters with the fearful Lord of the Assassins, and with Saladin, as noble a Pagan as ever drew sword.

Sixteen illustrations by H. R. Millar. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

IN THE CLOSED ROOM

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett has written here her first tale of child-life in ten years, and it is the tenderest, gentlest story imaginable. It is a "real" story, yet it contains the most exquisite spiritual fancy. Judith, a sweet little flower blooming in a dingy tenement, suddenly finds herself in a fine great house near the Park, in which there is a forbidden Closed Room. How she enters it, and how a delightful land of mystery is opened to her, Mrs. Burnett tells with the delicacy and simplicity that made "Fauntleroy" a joy to millions.

Eight sympathetic illustrations in color by Fessie Willcox Smith. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

WAR AND PEACE

One of the best novels of Tolstoi's earlier and more popular period, translated by Mrs. Garnett so admirably that it seems naturalized into our language. Uniform with "Ivan Ilyitch" and with "Anna Karenin."

THE MOUNTAINS

Most everybody knows by now that Stewart Edward White is "good company" on any trip through wild country and pioneer life. And this journey is an exciting one, over the great Sierra Nevadas, from alkali plain to snow-line. You learn a lot about appreciating the big outdoors, and about camping, packing, cooking, horses, and other things that most people have to learn by experience.

Illustrated by Lungren, with a frontispiece in color. $1.50 net is probably at this moment the best-read book of north woods life that's published. It's no wonder when you think of the fresh charm about these confidences of Mr. White's 1000-mile canoe trip; the pleasant freedom from any set story or essay-form; the invaluable

BLAZED TRAIL STORIES

Breathing the incense of the forest, the hot air of the mesa, the storm of the Western mining camp, there are heroes. Pioneers, simple, unconscious of their heroism; rude, dangerous vicious even; still they are heroes, and when you read these lightning frontier dramas by Mr. White you're glad that they exist, and that he has seen them battling with evil forces of nature and of man, and has written of their struggles with such wealth of local color and sharp detail. It's a book that makes you sit up and tingle.

Myra Kelly's stories of the humors of school life east of the Bowery have been a leading feature of McClure's Magazine during the past year. From the first, letters poured in to Miss Kelly, asking for more about Morris Mogilewsky and Ignatius Aloysius Diamantstein and all the queer little Italian and Jewish and Irish children whose odd dialects and crazy mistakes kept readers in screams of laughter. In this volume, the stories are collected, revised, and amusingly illustrated by W. D. Stevens.

FAR FROM THE MADDENING GIRLS

Guy Wetmore Carryl's fun is hard to beat as a mirth-producer. Particularly this Warning to Bachelors. A bachelor built himself a house, "Shingle Blessedness," in a lonely spot, with none of the modern conveniences, such as looking-glasses, closets, etc., that a woman likes to have. Then he settled down and thought he was safe. But——

Lots of those amusing twists of the English language that Mr. Carryl's readers expect.

THE LITTLE GREY HOUSE

Marion Ames Taggart's sunshiny story about the young folks in "The Little Grey House," and their friends, is the same delightful kind of a girl-and-boy tale as were Miss Alcott's stories. Young "Rob," like the famous "Jo," is a fine, true girl, with troubles. She handles the family finances, cantankerous "Aunt Azrael-la," and the great invention that was to make their fortune, all with the utmost bravery and fun.

Frontispiece in color by Ethel F. Betts. $1.25

GRANNY'S WONDERFUL CHAIR

By Frances Browne. Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett tells, in a charming preface, of how she got this dear old book, how it was lost and came back to her again. Then it begins: "In an old time, long ago, when fairies were in the world,"—there you are, your cheek on Granny's chair, and the wonderful clear voice from under the cushion telling you of Snowflower, and Princess Greedaland, and the many delightful and curious people of that magic land.

Eight illustrations in colors by Edith Truman. $1.50

McCLURE'S CHILDREN'S ANNUAL FOR 1905

Edited by T. W. H. Crossland. A big bright book, square octavo, covered with gay decorated cretonne, full of just the simple stories and verses that children like. Pictures, exciting and amusing, beautifully printed in four colors, are plentiful. It is a Christmas treat for any young one, and a worthy successor to the two preceding annuals, which are out of print.

Price, $1.50

HISTORY OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY

Miss Ida M. Tarbell's story of the greatest modern industrial struggle and the greatest "trust" of all time, appearing in McClure's Magazine, exerted a wider influence and excited more editorial comment than any other magazine feature of the century. Now, in these two handsome octavo volumes, it is seen to be a permanent and important contribution to history. Miss Tarbell tells of Rockefeller's gigantic plan to control the entire oil production of the United States; of how this came to include also oil distribution; of the death-struggle with the independents, and of the secret rebates and rate-cutting by which, at fearful expense, they were finally crushed; of the many legal attempts to break up the trust, and their failure.

Yet the book is not controversial. Every important statement, every contention, is backed by documentary evidence.

After years of patient and brilliant research, resulting in an immense amount of hitherto unpublished material; after extended investigations in the Oil Regions, her birthplace, where she learnt the story of the war with "Standard" from the old fighters themselves, many of them her friends; Miss Tarbell, with much expert assistance, has produced a narrative which the Chicago Tribune calls "more exciting and more marvellous than any fiction ever written."

Many illustrations, portraits, and figures. Cloth, 8vo, 2 volumes, net, $5.00

THE AMERICANS

Hugo Munsterberg's big book isn't the globe-trotter's kindly reminiscences of a pleasant visit, so painfully familiar nowadays,—a sort of literary "bread-and-butter letter,"—no, it's a frank and brilliant analysis of our country and ourselves, written in German for the Germans by the Professor of Philosophy at Harvard. So worthy and entertaining it proved that it had to be translated into English. It is the finest criticism of us since Bryce's "American Commonwealth."

INDIAN FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS

Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady's fourth volume in the "American Fights and Fighters Series" tells of our Indian wars and of the heroes who won them. Many of the old soldiers, Generals Miles, Hughes, Forsythe, and others, have personally revised the articles. There is much original material, as in the Appendix, which is an important and final contribution to the discussion as to whether or not Custer exceeded his orders at Little Big Horn. Ill. by Schreyvogel, Demming, and others. Ppd., $1.45; net, $1.30

THE COURTSHIPS OF QUEEN ELIZABETH

Major Martin Hume, custodian for King Edward of the Spanish State Papers and others, has shaken the dust of centuries from his musty documents, many of them hitherto unknown, and shows the blazing, fascinating pageant of a Queen who was "supremely vain," to whom, in her glittering court, came many splendid suitors. There was the sighing Frenchman, Alençon, "the poor frog;" and black-curbed Walter Raleigh, satined and jeweled at the Queen's desire; petted, spoiled Leicester; finally, 19-year-old Essex, scornfully running away from his mistress of 52. The trained historian's searching and weighing of internal evidence never obscures the romance, particularly in the two chapters added to this edition, dealing with the personal, non-political side of Elizabeth's amours.

THE COMPLETE FRENCH HOME MOTORIST COOKING

A. B. Filson Young has written the Chauffeur's Bible. Himself an expert amateur, he gives for amateurs "an account of the evolution and construction of the modern motor-car," with thorough rules for the management of French, German, and American, as well as English cars. The book is full of headings such as "Difficulties of the beginner;" "The poor man's problem;" "The cow, the dog, and the hen;" "Being one's own mechanic." Among the contributors are Rudyard Kipling, Lady Jeune, and the authors of "The Lightning Conductor."

French cooking, and money saved—but you won't believe it until you read Berthe Julienne Low's handsome, well-illustrated volume. It teaches the economy, the variety, and the little distinctive tricks in cooking that make the French the best-fed nation in the world. From the marketing—and Mrs. Low, who has lived on this side, allows for the difference from French markets—up to the spicing and serving, the book is full of precise, practical directions for preparing the tantalizing menus given. And there are hundreds of valuable recipes.

Fiction

Vergilius. By Irving Bacheller, author of "Eben Holden."

After two years' work along new lines, Irving Bacheller has produced in "Vergilius" a story of new atmosphere and unusual power. The scenes are those of ancient Rome in the days of Augustus Caesar, and of Palestine under the dark rule of Herod on the eve of the Nativity. The hero and heroine are Roman lovers of patrician birth, and their love stands out in sharp contrast to the effeminacy, luxury, and license of the Roman life about them. The story is one of tender affection and strong situations, and the final scene is a crowning touch of rare beauty. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.35.

A Ladder of Swords. By Gilbert Parker, author of "The Right of Way."

The story recounts the love of two Huguenot refugees, their fugitive life on the island of Jersey in the British Channel. Later the scene changes to England, where exciting intrigue and startling situations in the palace of Queen Elizabeth result in repeated dangers for the faithful lovers, but they finally escape the hazardous favor of the great queen and are united. The scenes on the island of Jersey are of idyllic freshness and beauty, and in the Seigneur of Rozel, the lord of the island, the author has produced a character of delightful humor and braggadocio. It is a thoroughly rounded, satisfying story, written with brilliancy and charm of style. Illustrated by the Kinneys. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The Masquerader. By Katherine Cecil Thurston, author of "The Circle."

It has just that touch of mystery, originality of plot, and thrilling suspense which lifts a story above the common rank of fiction and catches the reader's fancy at once. The plot rests upon a remarkable similarity in appearance between two men, and the course of the story makes it necessary for one of them to play the part of the other. The complications to which this novel situation give rise are among the most unique in recent literature, and the climaxes are powerfully produced. Illustrated. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The Son of Royal Langbrith. By William Dean Howells.

A new novel by this eminent novelist, which promises to be the most popular story he has written for some time. It deals with an unusual situation—that of a woman who conceals from her son the faults and shortcomings of his dead father. The situation is new in fiction and works out to an interesting conclusion. Crown 8vo, $2.00.

The Truants. By A. E. W. Mason, author of "Four Feathers."

An exhilarating story of London life which follows the fortunes of a young married couple living with the rich, overbearing father of the husband. Paternal tyranny drives the young man to seek independent success, and in his absence the young wife falls under the influence of an adventurer. The story develops startlingly and contains many exciting incidents. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.50.

The Lady of Loyalty House. By Justin Huntly McCarthy, author of "If I Were King."

A sparkling romance of Puritan and Cavalier days at the outbreak of the great Civil War in England, 1642. Love makes its way through all barriers of faction and strife, as the story reveals. The incidental characters are novel and amusing, and give telling effect to a series of cleverly contrived and brilliant episodes. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The Georgians. By Will N. Harben, author of "Abner Daniel."

The scene of Mr. Harben's new novel is that of "Abner Daniel," and the author's idea has been to utilize the popularity of Abner by making him the chief character in this new book. There are several subsidiary characters, who provide a great deal of mirthful entertainment. Abner himself, with his shrewd humor, pervades the whole story. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

The Flower of Youth. By Roy Rolfe Gilson, author of "In the Morning Glow."

Mr. Gilson's new book is by far his most important work, and is written along the same delightful lines of his former successes. It is a story that can be compared only with "Prue and I." The book is full of quaint humor and sentiment, and there are many parts dealing with child-life, handled with the same simplicity and truth found in Mr. Gilson's earlier stories. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.25.

Nostromo. By Joseph Conrad.

A novel of present-day adventure, the scenes being laid in a South American republic, where the odd contrast of advanced civilization side by side with mediæval revolutionary civilization is set forth. The story is one of revolution and exciting intrigue, and throughout the author's marvellous powers of description are shown. The little seaport town and the railroad and mine—English commercial undertakings—are wonderfully vivid. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Theophano. By Frederic Harrison.

A notable historical novel—a tale of the crusade of the tenth century—by the well-known English author and critic. Theophano is an intriguing woman who becomes the wife of an emperor and wields a terrible and wicked power over the Roman Empire. The book deals with her inglorious reign and destructive power over men. The descriptive passages of the Roman ceremonies, armies, etc., are remarkable. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Jess & Co. By J. J. Bell, author of "Wee Macgregor," etc.

A new story in Scotch dialect that will rank with the popular "Wee Macgregor" stories in originality, humor, and charm. The gossip of the village characters, who are all highly amusing types, abounds in the same dry humor and keen repartee which marked the author's success in "Wee Macgregor." "Jess & Co." is in every respect as bright and entertaining as its predecessors. 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

John Van Buren, Politician. Anonymous.

The story of a young lawyer's rise in politics in present-day New York. The police courts, City Hall, the political clubs, Tammany Hall, are fully portrayed, and the fund of political experiences and anecdotes recounted are a great and singular attraction. It purports to be the work of one who has been through the mill, as the hero goes through it, and who vouches for its unvarnished truth. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Love in Chief. By Rose K. Weekes.

A pretty English girl is the heroine. She is an aristocrat by birth, but has been reared in the country and knows nothing about society. Her piquant love affairs with men more experienced than she furnish the material of the story which suggests the lively romances of "The Duchess." Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

May Iverson—Her Book. By Elizabeth Jordan, author of "Tales of the Cloister."

A story of school-girl life in a great convent, told in the words of the little heroine, a girl of fourteen. The stories she tells deal with almost every crisis in school-girl life—rivalry, friendship, scholarship, love for the teacher—all handled from the school-girl point of view and irresistibly funny. Illustrated by Charlotte Harding. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

True Bills. By George Ade, author of "Fables in Slang."

This is a new collection of George Ade's latest fables, recounting for the most part humorous business and political situations. George Ade's fables in slang are always welcome and too well known to need comment. This new volume shows our modern Æsop at his best. Under his genial humor and irony lurks hard common-sense. He holds the mirror up to nature in a unique and highly entertaining manner. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, $1.00.

The Sorrows of Sap'ed. By James Jeffrey Roche, author of "Her Majesty the King."

The author relates in reverential style the troubles of an Oriental monarch with his successive wives. The story is peppered with innumerable wise maxims on matrimony and other matters which are wont to vex royalty, and which keep the reader laughing throughout the book. Illustrated in color. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

A Young Man in a Hurry. By Robert W. Chambers, author of "In Search of the Unknown."

This volume contains Mr. Chambers's latest short stories, which are among the very best he has written. They possess in a more generous measure the vivacity and humor and piquant sentiment for which this author's book is noted. Illustrated. Post 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

History and ScienceThe American Nation: A History. From Original Sources, by Associated Scholars. In 27 Volumes. Edited by Albert Bushnell Hart, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of History at Harvard University.The History.

This work is the greatest, most authoritative, and only exhaustively complete history of America that has ever been undertaken. The work is under the editorial supervision of Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of History at Harvard University, in consultation with advisory committees appointed by the Massachusetts, Virginia, Texas, and Wisconsin Historical Societies. The history will be complete in twenty-seven volumes, each the work of an acknowledged scholar of history who is a specialist in that period of our nation's history of which his volume treats. Each writer has spent years of study in preparing for this great work, and has searched all records and historical data. The names of these scholars are an assurance of the authority, finality, and permanence of this great work. The plan of the narrative is chronological, the volumes following each other in close sequence, and its scope a critical, political, biographical account of the events and forces which have been vital in the making of our nation. The series will include a set of unexcelled maps in color and in black and white. These maps alone are equivalent to an expensive American Atlas, and are, moreover, the result of the very latest topographical work. Each volume is indexed and a general index volume to the whole series will be prepared, thus making the whole group useful for ready reference. Accompanying each volume is a chapter of bibliography suited to the further needs of the general reader.

Five volumes are now completed and the remaining volumes will follow quickly. This first group of five is complete in itself.

- Vol. I. THE EUROPEAN BACKGROUND OF AMERICAN HISTORY, by Professor E. P. Cheyney, University of Pennsylvania. It deals with the condition of European civilization at the time of the sailing of Columbus and just after, which led to his voyages and other journeys to the American continent.
- Vol. II. BASIS OF AMERICAN HISTORY, by Professor Livingston Farrand, Columbia University, deals particularly with the conditions of our continent in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, Indian civilization, climate, topography, etc.
- Vol. III. SPAIN IN AMERICA, by Professor E. G. Bourne, Yale University, deals with the period of Spanish colonization between the years 1450 and 1580.
- Vol. IV. ENGLAND IN AMERICA, by Lyon G. Tyler, President of William and Mary College, deals with the early English colonies in Virginia and New England.
- Vol. V. COLONIAL SELF-GOVERNMENT, by Professor Charles M. Andrews, Bryn Mawr College, deals with the early self-government of the Spanish, French, English, and Dutch Colonies.

Each volume is illustrated with frontispiece and maps in color and black and white. Crown 8vo, polished buckram, leather labels, with gilt lettering, gilt tops, uncut edges, five volumes in box, net, $9.00.

Russia. By Hugo Ganz.

This book is an inside study of Russian Finances, Socialism, Dissenters, Bureaucracy, Public Opinion, the Czar and his Powers, the Courts of Justice, the Students, Plebe the all powerful minister, Russian Politics, the Press, the "Impending Crisis," and the Jewish Question, by a man thoroughly fitted to give a clear exposition of these subjects. The book was very recently written and is the last word on the subject of Russia. Dr. Ganz spent some time of the present year in Russia, bringing his observations and studies of this land of paradoxes entirely up to date. Taken as a whole the book answers many of just those questions that intelligent people are now asking about Russia. Dr. Ganz is a trained journalist with a very acute mind, who had unusual opportunities for getting at the heart of matters in Russia. His book is an intensely interesting story of present conditions there. Crown 8vo, net, $2.50.

The Cycle of Life. By C. W. Saleeby.

These essays deal chiefly with the greater problems of the universe, the future fate of the sun, the moon, the earth, the laws of gravity and the ether. Mr. Saleeby presents his material in a fascinating manner. His breadth of view, his clear language, his open-mindedness towards the yet undiscovered make his volume one of the most readable and inspiring books of the day. Crown 8vo, $2.00 net.

Biography and MusicImperator et Rex. By the author of "The Martyrdom of an Empress."

This charming biographer of the Emperor and Empress of Austria has here devoted her facile pen and unrivalled knowledge of the subject to the portraiture of the German Emperor as he really is, of his charming home life, and of his sympathetic character—presenting him as the warm-hearted and impulsive man rather than as a keen-minded, astute ruler bent on fostering the grandeur of his empire. Illustrated, crown 8vo, deckle edges, gilt top, $2.25.

Phases of Modern Music. By Lawrence Gilman.

In this volume Mr. Gilman writes of various important phases of the music of to-day in a manner congenial to the general music lover, to whom a merely technical consideration of music would not appeal. Among the subjects treated in the book are Richard Strauss, Mascagni, Edward MacDowell, Edvard Grieg, Wagner and his relation to Verdi, "Parsifal" and its significance, realism in music, women as composers, etc. 16mo, cloth, uncut edges, gilt top, net, $1.25.

PoetryThe Complete Poetical Works of Algernon Charles Swinburne.

The want of a complete library edition of the works of this great poet has long been felt. The whole of Swinburne's Poetical Works are included in these Six Crown 8vo Volumes, handsomely printed on fine paper. The first volume Mr. Swinburne has prefaced by a long Introductory Letter to his friend, Theodore Watts-Dunton, in which he relates for the first time how he came to produce the works upon which his fame rests. The contents of the six volumes are as follows:

- Vol. I. POEMS AND BALLADS. First Series.
- Vol. II. SONGS BEFORE SUNRISE—SONGS OF TWO NATIONS, including A SONG OF ITALY.
- Vol. III. POEMS AND BALLADS, Second and Third Series—SONGS OF THE SPRINGTIDES.
- Vol. IV. TRISTRAM OF LYONESSE (the Arthurian Poems)—THE TALE OF BALEN—ATALANTA—ERECHEUS.
- Vol. V. STUDIES IN SONG—A CENTURY OF ROUNDELS—SONNETS from the volume "Tristram of Lyonesse"—POEMS FROM TRISTRAM—THE HEPTALOGIA (with additions).
- Vol. VI. A MIDSUMMER HOLIDAY—ASTROPHEL, and Other Poems—The Contents of the New Volume, A CHANNEL PASSAGE, and Other Poems, which is now in the press.

Six volumes. With latest portrait of Swinburne and autograph. Crown 8vo, library binding, uncut edges, gilt tops, net, $12.00.

Essays

The Common Way. By Margaret Deland, author of "Old Chester Tales."

During the past two years Margaret Deland has written for Harper's Bazar a series of essays for women, so vital, so strong, so human that there has been a great popular demand for their preservation in book form. The first title of the series was "Twentieth-Century Talks to Women," and this title well describes the luminous common-sense papers Mrs. Deland has written on subjects of "Motherhood," etc. Every woman will be not only interested in Mrs. Deland's essays, but definitely helped by them. 16mo, cloth, gilt top, uncut edges, net, $1.25.

Gift Books

The Castle Comedy. By Thompson Buchanan.

An engaging story, written along comedy lines, of the time of Napoleon. The sprightly way in which the story is told, the dashing impudence of the hero, and the charm of the heroine, combine with the beauty of the volume to make this book unusually attractive as a Christmas gift. With illustrations in color and marginal decorations by Elizabeth Shippen Green. Uncut edges, gilt top, in box, net, $2.00.

Over the Hill to the Poor-House. By Will Carleton, author of "Farm Ballads."

This is the poem that first made Will Carleton famous. Its appeal to the best in human nature is of enduring quality. The author has written a preface especially for this edition, in which he tells some interesting things about the early vogue and criticism of this poem, and its authenticity as to facts. Illustrated. Marginal decorations in color. Square 8vo, in box, net, $2.00.

A Journey in Search of Christmas. By Owen Wister, author of "The Virginian."

Owen Wister has written nothing about the West more delightful, humorous, and pathetic by turns than this Christmas tale. It is a story of a big-hearted cowboy's quest of a good time at Christmas and how he found it in the acquaintance of a little city bootblack, whom he eventually took back to his mountain home. Illustrated. Printed in black and tint, decorated borders. Uncut edges, gilt top, in box, $2.00.

A Dog's Tale. By Mark Twain.

This famous dog story is now published in a beautiful holiday edition, with illustrations in color by W. T. Smedley, in response to the numerous demands for it in book form. It is a powerful piece of fiction, being told entirely from the dog's standpoint, and has made a widespread appeal to all classes of readers. With illustrations in color by W. T. Smedley. Cloth, $1.00.

The Luxury of Children. By Edward S. Martin.

With a genial charm and humor akin to that of Charles Lamb, Mr. Martin has written a series of essays which have to do with the many sweet, loving phases of child-life in the home. Among the chapter headings are: "Other People's Children," "Some Children in Particular," "Parents," "Strong Points of Infancy," "Naughtiness," "Children as an Incentive," "A Proper Place for Grandparents." The book will delight all fathers and mothers, and its quiet good humor and charming style make it a beautiful tribute to home life. Eight illustrations in color by Sarah S. Stilwell. Marginal decorations by Miss Stilwell, printed in tint. Square 8vo, ornamented cloth, uncut edges, gilt top, net, $1.75.

The Story of the Candlesticks. By Victor Hugo.

This is the famous story of Jean Valjean and the bishop's silver candlesticks, from Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Misérables." The episode is a complete story in itself, and the scene between the bishop and the ex-convict is one of the most impressive in all literature. "Wayside Series." Square 16mo, bound in gray-and-white cartridge paper boards, $1.00.

Red Hunters and the Animal People. By Charles A. Eastman ("Ohiyesa").

The author of these stories is a Sioux Indian, now a graduated physician and a worker among his people. His stories are not legends, but real tales of what may be called the human side of animal life. In some of the stories the hunter plays a part, but in most of them the animals themselves are the interesting figures. Many of the stories are intensely dramatic and all are written in a vivid, poetic style. Post 8vo, net, $1.25.

London Mews. By Catherine Janvier.

This volume consists of brief verses about cats and cat-life that will please the little folks. The rhymes are quaintly illustrated in colors by the author. Oblong 4to, net, $1.50.

JuvenilesRiver-Land. By Robert W. Chambers.

This is the latest volume of the series of nature books, each chapter dealing with the experiences of Peter and Geraldine and with some tree, animal, or fish growing beside or living in the streams. This has proved a capital plan for instilling natural history into children's minds. Uniform with "Orchard-Land" and "Outdoorland." With eight full-page illustrations in color by Elizabeth Shippen Green. Cloth, net, $1.50.

Josephine. By Ellen Douglas Deland.

This is the story of two little girls named Jo and Georgie, who, coming to live with their cousins, create consternation in the family because they are girls and not boys, as their names would indicate. But they bravely win their way into the hearts of their relatives, and many interesting adventures follow. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

Little Precious. By Gertrude Smith.

This is a companion volume to "The Lovable Tales of Janey and Josey and Joe" and recounts the further adventures of these charming little people. Miss Smith's stories for children are decidedly original and have been highly successful. With sixteen full-page colored illustrations and pictorial cover design in colors. Square 8vo, net, $1.30.

The Blue Dragon. By Kirk Munroe.

Kirk Munroe went to China especially to write this book of adventure and travel for boys. The heroes are an American boy and a Chinese boy who become fast friends at an American school. Later the scene is transferred to China, and the siege of the foreign legations at Peking plays an important part in the narrative. A delightful story, full of information about the great Chinese Empire. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

In Camp at Bear Pond. By Henry Edward Rood.

A rattling good story of the adventures of two boys who spend a month camping out in the woods in the bear country of Pennsylvania. The lads have many exciting adventures on the lake and in the forest, suffering a shipwreck, an encounter with a wild cat, capturing a pair of bear cubs, and incidental fishing and hunting. They also discover a spot where Indian relics are concealed. The book contains a great deal of wood-craft in which boys always delight, and exact information as to tents, utensils, and tools necessary for camping out. Illustrated. Post 8vo, $1.25.

Gunsaulus and others, with incidents and personal reminiscences by Rossiter Raymond, Edward Bok, Prof. George P. Fisher, Rev. R. DeWitt Mallary and others, and appreciations by A. H. Bradford, D.D., George W. Cable, Gen. O. O. Howard, Julia Ward Howe, George W. Curtis, O. W. Holmes and others, accompanied by illustrations and rare portraits.

The Love-watch. By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. pp. 60. Pamphlet form 20 cts. net, board covers 40 cts. net.

A story of the Bethany Home and events "In the City over the Hill" on the night upon which Jesus was betrayed. It gives a touching, beautiful and life-like picture of scenes in those last days of the Nazarene.

Lyman Beecher. By EDWARD HAYWARD. pp. 114. 75 cts. net.

A brief biography of the father of Henry Ward Beecher; a man of remarkable forcefulness of character and of great influence in shaping the theological thought of his time.

Monday Club Sermons on the Sunday-school Lessons for 1905. pp. 400. $1.25.

This well-known annual volume has a very strong list of contributors this year. It treats the lesson from a somewhat different standpoint from that of the ordinary lesson commentary, and will be found specially helpful to teachers of advanced classes.

Prayers from Plymouth Pulpit. By HENRY WARD BEECHER. pp. 332. $1.00 net.

Mr. Beecher's public prayers were often as memorable as his sermons, and we are glad to add this most valuable collection to our list of Beecher's writings and to offer it at a reduced price.

The Prophets as Preachers and Statesmen. By Prof. H. F. FOWLER. 50 cts. net. A course of lessons for advanced Bible classes.

The Song of Our Syrian Guest. By WILLIAM ALLEN KNIGHT. Revised and enlarged edition, with illustrations. 50 cts. net.

The story has delighted many thousands of readers. Nearly 13,000 copies of this little book were called for during December, 1903, principally by people who had read it in The Congregationalist, or seen it in the hands of friends, as it was advertised but little. We have now prepared a handsome illustrated edition, with title, cover design and full-page drawings by Mr. Charles Copeland. The author has drawn much new material from his notes on Syrian shepherd life, and has lengthened the story to bring out new shades of meaning in the words of the Twenty-third Psalm.

Bound in cloth, cover design in white and gold, text of psalm in thirteenth century missal letters, with illuminated initials and captions.

We also have the original edition in pamphlet form at 5 cts., 50 cts. per dozen, and a better edition in cardboard covers at 10 cts., $1.00 per dozen.

Sword and Plowshare. By WILLIS BOYD ALLEN. pp. 266. $1.25.

This is the fourth in the series of Colonial and Revolutionary stories by the well-known author of "Son of Liberty," "Called to the Front," "Pine Tree Flag," etc., and is as full of interest as those that precede it. After following our old acquaintances through many of the stirring events of the latter part of the war, we are introduced to the peaceful domestic life of those early days.

The Testing of Sidney Dean. By Mrs. IDA T. THURSTON. In press. $1.25.

Tells of the various experiences, both good and bad, of a young fellow in making a start in life. His loyalty, when business prospects look dark, to the man with whom he has taken only a temporary position, his devotion to "gran," to whom he is not related, but who is badly treated by those who are under obligations to care for her, his straightforward, manly integrity in all the trials which beset him, and the success which finally crowns his efforts—all make interesting reading which will be helpful to other lads.

Autumn Announcement

True Henry Clay

By JOSEPH M. ROGERS

The new volume of the "True Biographies," which have been the most successful series of their kind ever published. Mr. Rogers, formerly editor of McClure's Magazine, was born and reared in the Clay country. He has made a lifetime study of Clay and his environment. He had access to all the private Clay papers now in possession of the Clay family. His book is notable for its wealth of anecdote and for its portrayal of Clay as a man. It contains twenty-four illustrations, most of them from photographs made especially for the work.

Illustrated. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $2.00 net; half morocco, $5.00 net.
Postage 14 cents extra.

Love's Labour's Lost

By HORACE HOWARD FURNESS

The new volume in this most scholarly of all editions of Shakespeare's plays. It contains the same large number of foot-notes, annotations, and comparisons of text which have been a feature of the other thirteen volumes of a monumental work.

Variorum Edition. Large 8vo. Gilt top, cloth, $4.00 net. Half morocco, $5.00 net. Postage extra.

Modern Industrial Progress

By C. H. COCHRANE

A new volume which describes in plain, practical, and yet accurate manner what has been done in the last few years, especially in the fields of invention and mechanical construction. The book tells of the making of sky-scrapers, of armor-plate, of the great guns, etc.; of the discovery and application of the principles of wireless telegraphy; in fact, it covers the whole field of industrial progress. The book is profusely and beautifully illustrated with reproductions from accurate photographs.

Over 400 illustrations. 12mo. Decorated cloth. $3.00 net. Postage extra.

On Holy Ground

By REV. WILLIAM L. WORCESTER

An interesting presentation of the stories of the Bible so arranged and introduced that they appeal directly to the young reader. Dr. Worcester has not attempted to modify or change the language of the Bible, but has prefaced each story with sufficient explanation to make its meaning and its relation to the other stories entirely plain. The book is illustrated with 300 superb reproductions from photographs of the most interesting spots in the Holy Land.

Illustrated. 8vo. Cloth, $3.00 net. Postage extra.

Cats by the Way

By SARAH E. TRUEBLOOD

All about cats,—the kind of cats every one knows; not the aristocratic animal of the bench show, but the pussy of the fireside, the kitchen, and sitting-room cushion. There are scores of little pictures of the cat scattered through the book, which has a pussy-cat cover as well.

Illustrated. 12mo. Decorated cloth, $1.25 net. Postage 8 cents extra.

Diseases of Society

By G. FRANK LYDSTON, M.D.

The most direct, forceful and out-spoken study of social conditions in this country which has yet been put into print. Dr. Lydston considers not only the police criminal, the anarchist and the sexual pervert, but also that vast number of offenders against the moral and physical laws whom the courts do not reach. He deals with the oppression of wealth, the rights and wrongs of organized capital, and labor, the negro question and the crimes which have grown out of it, and with the offences of "society" at large. His book is written in the most trenchant and brilliant style. His statements cut to the bone; and he tells the truth without fear or favor. As a physician, physiologist and student of social conditions he has wide experience for many years. For the special study of the criminal classes his official positions have given him unusual opportunities, including access to the police records and photograph galleries of many cities, and to the registers of asylums for the insane.

Illustrated. 8vo. Cloth, $3.00 net. Postage extra.

Business

By L. DeV. MATTHEWMAN

A book of epigrams, by the author of "Crankisms," in an entirely new vein. They are smart, snappy observations on business, its principles and lack of principles; its paths to success and its pitfalls; its sophistries and its practical lessons. The book has fifty full-page drawings and many smaller sketches by Tom Fleming, and has decorated covers.

FICTION

The Challoners

By E. F. BENSON

"Mr. Benson's latest novel, 'The Challoners,' is probably the best thing he has done so far. In 'The Challoners' his happiest faculty, that of putting smart society on paper, is shown to its best advantage. He is at home with English people, and when he attempts to picture the heights and depths of a father's despair when he sees his children taking what is to him a plunge into moral perdition, his work is deft and true and commendably sincere. An entertaining, well-written story, with deep feeling in it."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Angel by Brevet

By HELEN PITKIN

A love story of New Orleans, which will at once recall George W. Cable's "Old Creole Days." Miss Pitkin, who is widely known throughout the South for her writings, has blended the lazy charm, the passion, and the superstitious strain which characterize Creole society, with the picturesque setting of old aristocratic life of New Orleans, and her story is dramatic and surprising.

Chronicles of Don Q.

By K. and H. PRICHARD

This romance of adventure and humorous experience compares favorably with the popular "Adventures of Captain Kettle." Appearing serially in Pearson's Magazine, it excited wide interest. Something happens on every page of the book, and the character of Don Q. is a unique blend of sardonic humor, courtly grace, and unflinching courage. He is, in effect, a modern bandit, and stops at nothing to attain his end.

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW - - PUBLICATIONS AND NEW EDITIONS

A practical guide for all lovers and owners of lace.

THE LACE BOOK.

By N. HUDSON MOORE. Author of "The Old Furniture Book."

Nearly every woman has in her possession, either by inheritance or purchase, some pieces of lace. Very often she has no idea what the makes are or whether the specimens are bobbin-made or needle-made, or whether they are made partly by hand and partly by machine. The aim of this book is to make these points so plain that such questions can be easily decided. The lace of each country is considered separately, and each variety of lace made is described in the part devoted to the country where it originated.

All the finest laces are shown in engravings both of specimen pieces and of portraits painted by masters of the different periods. These pictures are painted with such fidelity that you can almost distinguish each thread in the superb laces which decorate the costumes. In addition, under each portrait is given the variety of lace it illustrates, the name of each subject and that of the painter, as well as the time when they lived. The specimen illustrations have been taken for this book from the best collections, and make it a veritable work of art.

The memoirs of the 16th, 17th, and 18th centuries are full of references to the extravagant use of lace. All these sources have been drawn on, and make the subject one of fascination as well as beauty.

Practical experiments to show how little food the human race really needs.

PHYSIOLOGICAL ECONOMY IN NUTRITION.

By PROF. RUSSELL H. CHITTENDEN.

The book gives a clear and concise account of the scientific experiments carried on at New Haven in a study of the food requirements necessary to meet the true physiological needs of the body, under different conditions of life and activity. The aim has been to ascertain experimentally how far the dietary standards and customs which have gained general acceptance in most parts of the civilized world are scientifically correct, and how far they are at fault in meeting the daily needs of the body. These experiments excited the widest comment in the newspapers, but this is the first accurate report made of their results.

The observations extending through many months were made upon three groups of men, representing different types and degrees of mental and physical activity—viz., first, a group of university professors and instructors; second, a detachment of soldiers, volunteers, from the Hospital Corps of the United States Army, detailed through the courtesy of the War Department; third, a group of university students, trained athletes.

A very unusual feature of the book will be sixteen half-tone illustrations showing pictures of the college professors, athletes and soldiers after they had dieted for months and should, according to the ordinary theories, have been half starved.

While the book is primarily a scientific treatise, it is full of valuable and suggestive information for the lay reader, containing among other things the daily dietary followed by the soldiers throughout their stay in New Haven, as well as examples of the dietary made use of by the other subjects experimented with.

The book presents with scientific accuracy the true food requirements of the body. It aims to correct the unphysiological and detrimental dietetic habits which generally prevail.

THE ORIENTAL RUG BOOK.

By MARY CHURCHILL RIPLEY.

One aim of this book is to deal with rugs as they are found to-day in modern homes, and to offer a definite method of study that will furnish the rug-lover with a simple system which will enable him to classify individual possessions.

The book is very fully illustrated with engravings of rugs, including several in color, which have been selected with great care and have been authenticated by Oriental experts who have signed their descriptions of specimens, thus establishing as far as possible the truth concerning them.

Designs which have peculiar significance are fully explained by the author, who calls attention to important motifs of ornament by the introduction of illustrations in the text itself.

The evolution from natural to conventional design is pointed out, and classified illustrations are given of the great styles and periods in art.

A unique book of interest to all branches of the church.

SAINTS AND FESTIVALS OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

By H. POMEROY BREWSTER.

Prepared by a hagiologist after many years of arduous study.

While it is practically a "Year Book" for both branches of the Christian Church, it is in every way unlike any books of a similar character yet published either in England or in the United States, since it has the hearty approval of the clergy of all branches of the Church, and gives in clear, terse terms the history of the origin, growth, and in some cases, decadence, of the varied Feasts, Fasts and Festivals of the Church, as told by historians and archaeologists, without any effort to discuss any of the dogmas or creeds promulgated from either the Catholic or Reformed standpoint. With exhaustive and valuable indexes.

In one of these indexes will be found an alphabetical list of most of the Saints the Latin Church has canonized, while in another the days when these saints are honored are given, and upon each day in the Church Year a brief sketch is given of one or more of the most noted among these and the legends connected with their lives.

HOW TO KNOW THE STARRY HEAVENS.

By EDWARD IRVING.

The best written, most accurate, and best illustrated popular work on astronomy.

It is written in plain everyday language that anyone can understand. Difficult scientific terms and puzzling technicalities are conspicuous by their absence.

It is not a dry-as-dust text-book of mathematical astronomy, but a lively and sometimes exciting account of the structure and history of our Universe.

It brings the amazing facts and startling theories of the "New Astronomy" within the grasp of the average public-school graduate.

It gives a simple yet accurate account of the very latest discoveries and theories concerning both solar systems and "atomic star-clusters."

The book is illustrated by colored plates and about 100 star and lunar charts, drawings, sketches, diagrams, and photographic reproductions in black-and-white.

By HERBERT COMPTON.

This book is copiously illustrated with portraits of modern champion dogs, and line-drawings of many interesting obsolete types. Every variety of non-sporting dog is fully dealt with. Contributions are included from over 500 authorities who are experts either as owners, breeders, or judges of prize-winning dogs.

The plan of the volume is ingenious. Mr. Compton has circularized hundreds of enthusiastic fanciers, and these have responded with information which forms the bulk of the book. Mr. Compton, however, modestly limits his own share to being "readable" in the links that bind these items. Readable he certainly is throughout, but he is something more, for he has had a wide experience of dogs and horses in many parts of the world.

THE CONFESSIONS OF A PHYSICIAN.

By V. VERESAEFF.

Translated by Simeon Linden.

In this book the author gives his reminiscences of life as a student walking the hospitals, as a hospital surgeon, and as a general practitioner. He gives not only his experiences, but the impressions he formed from his experiences; and states his opinion with vigor, fearlessness, and no dearth of detail.

IMPORTED AMERICANS.

By BROUGHTON BRANDENBURG.

The most intelligent attempt ever made to understand the question of European immigration to America. Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg crossed the ocean twice in the steerage, passed through Ellis Island, and lived for some months with a typical Sicilian family who were about to emigrate.

Mr. Brandenburg proves this country's error in examining immigrants for admittance at our ports of arrival, shows the fallacy of any attempt to make this examination at the ports from which they sail and urges convincingly that it take place in the home communities of the immigrants, obviating many frauds and deceptions, encouraging desirable emigration and greatly reducing the expense.

What Mr. Brandenburg saw is told in a simple, direct manner. Numerous incidents, entertaining stories, and many illustrations from remarkable photographs illuminate the swiftly moving narrative.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH A KING.

By WILLIAM N. ARMSTRONG.

King Kalakaua of the Sandwich Islands is the only sovereign who ever put a girdle around the earth. His journey was made incognito in 1881, his party consisting only of himself, Col. C. H. Judd, his Chamberlain, and the writer of these memoirs, his Minister of State.

These three had been schoolmates together and had rubbed one another's noses in the dirt thirty years before. The kingdom they represented was a tiny one, but they were entitled to royal ceremonies according to the usages of nations, and they received them everywhere they went.

With interesting half-tone portraits of most of the personages met, showing them as they appeared in 1881.

Charming thoughts for the lovers of flowers.

FLOWER FABLES AND FANCIES.

By N. HUDSON MOORE. Author of "The Old China Book."

A thousand charming fancies and conceits linger around the rose, the lily, the violet and other popular flowers. Some of them come from Japan, the land of flowers. Some are born here, where the Indian gave a spirit to every living thing. Other legends had their birth in far-off Persia, where, though the maiden might not read or write, she could spell out a love-letter in flowers and leaves, and send an answer by the same sweet messengers.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY'S PUBLICATIONS.

Many of these fables and fancies have been gathered in this book, which is addressed to all who love flowers.

THE CAPTAINS AND THE KINGS

In this interesting work, the reader will find himself in the very presence, as it were, of emperors, kings, queens and princes, of savants and distinguished musicians, of painters and philosophers, of statesmen and great writers, of popes and diplomats.

Mr. Haynie's purpose in the book is to show, not the fads or the features of some few of the many eminent personages whom he has met and known, but rather their leading characteristics, their distinguishing qualities, their human side as well as their official or public side.

STORY OF EXPLORATION SERIES.

The History and Romance of the Conquest of the Globe.

The Penetration of Arabia. By David George Hogarth.

Further India. By Hugh Clifford, C.M.G.

The St. Lawrence Basin and its Borderland. By Dr. S. E. Dawson, King's Printer, Canada.

The idea which underlies this series, which is edited by Dr. Scott Keltie, secretary of the Royal Geographical Society, is that of the romance of exploration, with strict adherence to accuracy. A dry record alone is always avoided; the books are not only of the highest historical and scientific value, but they are above everything readable.

All the volumes of this series are prepared especially for it, and all the writers chosen are the highest authorities on the special topics treated, including Nansen, Sir Harry Johnston and others.

There are about 60 illustrations in each volume, and they are all thoroughly appropriate to the text. They include portraits of the explorers figuring in the volumes, photographs or sketches of the familiar features of the region covered, and reproductions of suitable contemporary engravings. The maps are made by Bartholomew, and are the most accurate possible.

During her years of travel over the country she has collected many choice recipes from reticent chefs and head-waiters and from generous friends. These she has gathered together, and they are now issued in book form.

This is not only a cook-book, but a work of art as well. On one page comes a recipe, surrounded by numerous illustrations in pen and ink. On the page backing this is some witty abhorism, either selected, or one that has been used by Miss Irwin on the stage.

A CHICAGO PRINCESS.

A New Novel by ROBERT BARR.

A characteristic, breezy, and humorous romance of an over-rich Chicago girl with a craze for titled personages.

The heroine is the daughter of a Chicago multimillionaire, travelling in the East in his yacht. Here the story begins, and the action at once becomes as rapid as that of a Japanese campaign.

The party go to Korea, where the Emperor falls violently in love with the Chicago "Princess," and desires to marry her. His courtship is fast and furious, and leads to many strange complications which Mr. Barr has told in his bright and vivid way.

The story satirizes certain nouveau riche American tendencies and is thoroughly original and "up-to-date," while the characters are all interesting. The book has above all things that merit which Mr. Barr's work never fails to possess—that of always entertaining the reader.

STRENUOUS ANIMALS.

By EDWIN J. WEBSTER.

A book of humor in an entirely new vein.

A series of stories of animals who are engaged in helping their masters, either accidentally or as a result of training.

Among the amusing characters is "Buster," the boss bee who was superintendent of his dear master's bee-hive until he fell from grace and was dismissed for drunkenness, but finally reformed.

Another is the "Oil-loving Dog-fish" who gathered together, as a collie does sheep, fish for his kind master to catch, until this valued servant begun to pay attention to a lady dog-fish and then deserted his master. A deliciously humorous story is that of the adventures of the "Cable-laying Ferret," and there is a "Spectacled Eagle," besides sundry laughter-provoking bears, a balloonist dog and a pet frog.

Another treat for the boys.

JACK IN THE ROCKIES.

By GEORGE BIRD GRINNELL.

This is a sequel to Mr. Grinnell's two earlier books about Jack, and takes him to the Yellowstone region and introduces him to the many marvels that exist there. The book is full of action; the hero sees many Indians, runs buffalo, and kills bears, mountain sheep, elk, and deer; there are many incidents of old time travel.

Mingled with all this, yet well concealed, is a vast deal of instruction about mountain travel, wild life, Indians, and natural history. The book abounds in exciting adventure, yet is thoroughly wholesome, and the climax is reached when, on their way home, and but a few days distant from the ranch belonging to Jack's uncle, they encounter a band of horse-thieves who have run off a bunch of horses belonging to that ranch. By an artful Indian device they recover the horses.

Illustrated by E. W. Deming, the great delineator of Indian life.

have never been obtainable in a form so elegant—in fact nothing like the New Century Library has ever been produced. This result is secured by the use of Nelson's India Paper, the thinnest opaque printing paper known. Large novels formerly requiring two bulky volumes are issued in one handsome book, not thicker than a monthly magazine and of pocket size— $6\frac{1}{4} \times 4\frac{1}{4}$ inches, yet the size of the type is not reduced.

This Library contains the complete works of

DICKENS, THACKERAY, SCOTT

and selected works of the best authors

The bindings are handsome, the paper is beautiful, and the type large and clear. The size is so convenient that it is a pleasure to read the standard novels, even if your customer has already read them.

The Red Letter Library

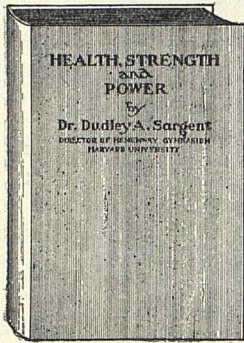

We take pleasure in announcing that we have made arrangements with Messrs. Blackie & Son, of Glasgow and London, whereby we have secured the American rights for all volumes now published, or which may hereafter be published, in their Red Letter Library.

Each volume is complete in itself, and contains a vignette introduction, biographical and critical, by an authority of the highest repute. The books are neat, compact, clearly printed, and handsomely bound.

The paper has been specially made for the series. The text is printed in two colors—red and black—giving the page a bright, and at the same time tasteful, appearance. Each volume has a frontispiece illustration, reproduced in half-tone, and framed in an appropriate decorative design by Mr. Talwin Morris. The title-page and end papers also in color, and cover design in gold, are by the same artist. Size, 4 x 6. Bound in two styles. Cloth, gilt top, price, 50 cents; limp leather, gilt top, price, $1.00.

NOW READY*The New Authoritative Work on Physical CultureHealth, Strength and Power*By DUDLEY ALLEN SARGENT*A.M., Sc.D., M.D.

Director of Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard University, ex-President of the American Association for the Advancement of Physical Culture.

Dr. Sargent's many inventions of the modern system of gymnasium apparatus, together with his numerous articles and papers on physical training, are so well known that a new and thoroughly up-to-date work on Physical Culture by an author who is without doubt the recognized authority on the subject will command immediate interest. In this work Doctor Sargent has aimed to make it even more popular by devising

A Series of Exercises which Require No Apparatus Whatever

His exercises and methods have been adopted all over the world. Not only was most of the gymnastic apparatus now in general use invented by him and the manner of its use of his contriving, but many of the various drills devised to give exercise without the use of any more complicated mechanical assistance than dumb-bells and Indian Clubs.

With over one hundred half-tone illustrations from original photographs furnished by the author. 12mo, cloth, limp cover, price, $1.75; full flexible leather, price, $3.00.

Send for Complete Catalog, illustrated, of Popular and Standard Books, Gift Books, Handy Volume Classics, etc., in a variety of styles of bindings. Samples sent upon request. The CALDWELL EDITIONS ARE ILLUSTRATED, and for this holiday season the novelty effects in cover designs, etc., are more replete than ever. Ask your jobber to show you the Caldwell line before completing your purchases for the holiday trade.

Only Twenty New Books This Fall

(Our policy is to publish fewer and better books, and push each harder)

A MUCH smaller number than usual (about 2 per cent. of the MSS. considered), but they must be good because our advance Fall sales are the largest we ever had. ¶ Each book will be carefully and consistently pushed. ¶ All will be ready before November 1st. ¶ We ask you to keep these few titles in mind, and help us to make them successful. Dates of publication are of course approximate.

An Historical Account of the Cruise of the Flying Squadron and the Destruction of the Spanish Fleet, graphically and truthfully told in the great book, written by himself, and entitled,

SCHLEY AND SANTIAGO

Admiral Schley is justly proud of his record, and he owes it as a duty to his wife and children to leave a fitting tribute of his long professional life under the flag he loved, and under which he has served the best years of his life. And the people, fully believing that he is one of the greatest heroes the world has ever produced, will fully appreciate the story of his wonderful victory and all the facts that led up to it, as told in his modest, yet intensely graphic and interesting manner.

Notable Books, Fall 1904

A NATION'S IDOL—A Romance of Franklin's Nine Years of Happiness at the Court of France. No writer of historical fiction had taken Benjamin Franklin as the foremost character of a story until the author wrote this book using as a basis the principal incidents of the great philosopher's life while representing the Colonies at the Court of France. A love episode, beginning with a family feud, is predominant, and during its evolution the true story of the negotiations which ended in the treaty that placed the American Colonies among the nations of the earth is told.

Charles Felton Pidgin
$1.50

HER FIANCÉ—In this book the author paints with charming artistry and fidelity to truth the gay humor, readiness in conversational fence and repartee, and genuine womanliness of college girls. Writing from the vantage point of an active literary career, she has mingled in the most alluring proportion the qualities of a "real book."

Josephine Daskam
(Mrs. Selden Bacon)
With Illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green. $1.00

LITTLE MISS JOY-SING—A little Japanese maiden is consumed with envy at the sight of the Prince-of-Don't-Care-What riding by with his glittering retinue, and wishes to become the Beautiful Pine Tree in his garden. Her wish is granted, and immediately there are many happenings to which a goblin fox of the most pronounced character largely contributes.

John Luther Long
With Sixty Illustrations, $1.00

TOR, A STREET BOY OF JERUSALEM—Tor is struck across the face by a whip in the hands of Pilate, the Roman Governor, and made blind. He is cured by Jesus. After his healing he regards Jesus as his Master, and devotes himself to the work of bringing those in need of help to the Saviour. The story is one of absorbing interest, and is told as only Mrs. Kingsley can tell it. Mr. Eckman's masterly illustrations are a striking feature of the book.

Florence Morse Kingsley
With Illustrations by F. A. Eckman
$1.00

A NOTHER YEAR with DENISE AND NED TOODLES—This, the second story of Denise and her pets—the record of another happy year in their lives, has its beginning when the wood thrush trills his incomparable song, and its end at the blessed Christmas season.

Gabrielle E. Jackson
With Illustrations by C. M. Relyea
$1.00

All the old friends, and some new ones, appear, and it is hard to keep from reading the charming tale too hurriedly, which is but another way of saying that the story is delightful.

WILD CREATURES AFIELD—That the author loves life best when it is free, is easily seen as she tells of various animals and birds—wild creatures of the wood and jungle, the plains and cliffs and sands. All life of this kind is wonderful, and these stories are written that those who read may be helped to a knowledge of the haunts and habits of the birds, beasts, and creeping things which are free to run on the earth, fly in the air, or swim in the sea.

Ellen Velvin, F.Z.S.
With Illustrations by Gustave Verbeek, $1.00

A LITTLE ROUGH RIDER—Under the title of "A Little Rough Rider" the author tells the story of a little girl, who, as Senorita Finette, the equestrienne, saved the fortunes of a circus during the early years of the gold-fever in California.

Tudor Jenks

Notable Books, Fall 1904

BUMPER AND BABY JOHN—

An irresistibly humorous relation of the haps and mishaps of the homeliest, yet most dependable dog in the world, and a delightful red-haired and freckled child, whose united ages did not exceed seven years.

Anna Chapin Ray

With Illustrations by Curtis Wager-Smith, 50c.

AMY DORA'S AMUSING DAY—

Mr. Bicknell is a born story-teller, and he has set forth Amy Dora's adventures on this memorable day in a manner that is both wittily and morally wholesome.

Frank M. Bicknell

With Illustrations by Florence Scovel Shinn, 50c.

BABY BIBLE STORIES—

These stories carry beautiful, easily understood lessons, and cannot be commended too highly. Each is written in a reverent and sympathetic spirit, and with such a sweet simplicity of style that thousands of mothers will be thankful for them. domain in the hearts of the little ones; she was safely enthroned there, long ago.

Gertrude Smith

With Illustrations by Jessie Walcott 50c.

THE LITTLE BOY AND THE ELEPHANT—

The fascination of the story of Nooro and Popo is like that of "Muti Guj, Mutineer," which Kipling would never have written had he read the story of the Little Boy and the Elephant.

Gustavus Frankenstein

With Illustrations by Gustave Verbeek, 50c.

A GOURD FIDDLE—

His mistress teaches a little colored boy to sing the chants and anthems in the service of the little church where he was baptized, and with her voice new airs for his violin. After the death of his teacher Orphy falls upon hard times, but eventually his talent is recognized by a professor of music who takes him to Europe, and there, under peculiar circumstances, he plays on his home-made gourd fiddle before no less a personage than Her Majesty, Queen Victoria.

Grace MacGowan Cooke

Illustrated, 50c.

WITCHERY WAYS—

Children may well be grateful to the forgotten people who, long ago, first invented fairy tales. Mr. Wells confesses, in the preface to this book, that he has a very tender regard for the "Little People," as fairies used to be called in those days, and now he has given us, under the title of "Witchery Ways," some fairy tales of his own which will prove a never-ending delight to every reader.

Amos R. Wells

Illustrated, 50c.

SONNY BOY—

Sonny Boy—his name was Peter—goes on a visit and has many pleasant experiences. But Miss Swett tells the story, and when that is said, nothing remains but to enjoy the book.

Sophie Swett

Illustrated, 50c.

A PRAIRIE INFANTA—

A clever Western story that develops in a little Colorado mining town. The action is spirited and brings the tale to an unlooked for and happy termination.

Eva Wilder Brodhead

Illustrated, 50c.

KINDLY LIGHT—

"Delicate in sentiment, life-like in character delineation, told with simplicity, yet with the vital touch that draws out the sympathies of the reader."

Florence Morse Kingsley

The White Shield Winning His "W"

By
CAROLINE ATWATER MASON

Illustrated. Price, $1.00 net; postpaid, $1.12

Mrs. Mason has based her new story on the legend of Thekla, reputed to have been the first Christian martyr. The scene is laid in Phrygia, a province of Asia Minor, and principally in the cities of Iconium and Antioch. The period is about 50 A.D.

By the Same Author

A LILY OF FRANCE. Illustrated. Price, $1.10 net; postpaid, $1.25.

THE QUIET KING. Illustrated. Price, $1.10 net; postpaid, $1.20.

A WIND FLOWER. Price, 75 cents net; postpaid, 82 cents.

By EVERETT T. TOMLINSON

Illustrated. Price, $1.00 net; postpaid, $1.10

Dr. Tomlinson gives us the student experiences of the freshman year at college. We are thrust right into the student body, see the clash of freshman and sophomore, learn of the adjustment of college relations and get an excellent idea of college life both in the classroom and campus.

Dr. Tomlinson's Other Books

THE HOLY SPIRIT THEN AND NOW

By E. H. JOHNSON

Professor in Crozer Theological Seminary. 12mo, about 350 pages

A discussion of the nature, the relations, and the work of the Holy Spirit. Dr. Johnson, as stated in his preface, feels that "what the Holy Spirit did in founding Christianity and what he does for its furtherance still need to be studiously looked into." In pursuing this study the author cuts loose from current discussions and investigates for himself on original lines. The book will therefore prove of great suggestiveness and a needed help to those desiring to master this topic.

The Bible in Modern Light

By JOHN W. CONLEY, D.D. 16mo, 238 pages. Price, 75 cents net; postpaid, 82 cents.

A year or two ago Doctor Conley was invited to give a series of lectures on the Bible and Modern Life before the Bible Department of the Women's Club of Omaha, Neb. The lectures dealt with the origin, manuscripts, translations, versions, etc., of the Scriptures and their relations to modern science and to current life. So great an interest was aroused by the delivery of the lectures that their publication was demanded.

The Ethics of the Christian Life

By HENRY E. ROBINS, D.D., sometime President of Colby College, and Professor in Rochester Theological Seminary.

This book represents the work and study of twenty years.

The Church Covenant

By CHAMPLIN BURRAGE. 12mo, about 300 pp.

Mr. Burrage has made a thorough study of the development of the church covenant among the Presbyterian, Congregational, and Baptist churches. He has been for his information to the original documents, and has unearthed some facts not previously known. Copies of some of the original covenants are given in their quaint terms.

Proverbs

By Prof. GEO. R. BERRY, of Colgate University.

This is one of the parts of the American Commentary on the Old Testament. Proverbs is a very difficult book on which to construct a commentary. It is, of course, aphoristic in style rather than argumentative and logical. Professor Berry, however, by his method of division and grouping has to a certain extent overcome this obstacle.

TWO HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED WHITMAN MANUSCRIPTS

WALT WHITMAN'S DIARY IN CANADA

These travel notes have the autobiographic charm of all of Whitman's lighter and spontaneous work, and show in detail an experience in his life only hinted at by a few paragraphs in his collected prose works. The edition is limited to 500 copies and contains a fine photogravure portrait from a little known photograph taken during the Canadian journey.

8vo. Net $2.50. By Post, $2.60

AN AMERICAN PRIMER By WALT WHITMAN

A very early Whitman ms. originally prepared as notes for a lecture, with an alternative title The Primer of Words for American Young Men and Women, etc. It was only recently discovered that the apparently desultory notes possessed a definite unity and that this material had never been included in Whitman's works. Limited to 500 copies, with Photogravure Portrait.

8vo. Net $2.00. By Post, $2.10

EIGHTEEN MILES FROM HOME

By
WILLIAM T. HODGE

16mo. $1.00

A charming little romance "in homespun," full of a quaint humor and tender heart interest. The hero, a raw country boy with uncontrollable aspirations as a Shakespearian star, is a new type in fiction, and his adventures, from his début as the dupe of a travelling professor of mesmerism, up to the lamentable yet laughable finale of his professional career, hold the interested attention throughout; and, in the words of a reader, "almost make you cry, although you can't help laughing."

WIT AND HUMOR OF WELL-KNOWN QUOTATIONS

Edited by
MARSHALL BROWN

12mo. Net $1.20. By Post, $1.30

A unique collection of familiar quotations arranged as "Themes with Variations," if a musical expression may be applied to such a work. Grouped with each well-known quotation are many of the jeux d'esprit, wise or witty comments, or versified versions which have grown out of, or serve to illustrate the maxim. These variations are collected from all sources, from the anonymous newspaper paragraph to the pages of the most profound philosophers.

ABOUT MY BOOKS A Reader's Record

Arranged by
GRACE E. ENSEY

12mo. Cloth, net, $1.50. By Post, $1.60. Full Flexible Leather, net, $2.50. By Post, $2.60

A dainty volume, tastefully ornamented, affording a convenient record for book-lovers who desire to preserve memoranda about their reading and their books. Arranged in six sections, viz.: (I.) Books to be Read, (II.) Books Read, (III.) Books Borrowed, (IV.) Books Lent, (V.) Magazine Articles, and (VI.) Quotations. Each page has a decorative border, printed in color, and an apt quotation.

CHANTS COMMUNAL

By
HORACE TRAUBEL

12mo. Net $1.00. By Post, $1.10

A representative collection of prose pieces, radical but constructive, treating of the economic situation of the times and imbued with the spirit and the letter of the communistic ideal. Of severe but optimistic strain, they are not violent or obstructive, but rather like face to face talks with those who would study the industrial problems in the light of historic experience.

A NEW BEACON BIOGRAPHY

WALT WHITMAN

By
ISAAC HULL PLATT

24mo. Net 75 cents
By Post, 80 cents

It is peculiarly fitting that the first attempt to produce a life of Whitman should be made in the Beacon Biographies, which aim to produce competent brief sketches of the lives of the most eminent Americans written from the viewpoint of the present generation. Dr. Platt's thorough sympathy with Whitman is well known, and he has as well a reputation for calm, dispassionate writing, which will go far toward making the present volume acceptable to those who desire to learn of the real significance of the poet's life and work.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

WE BEG TO ANNOUNCE THE PUBLICATION
IN BOOK FORM, SEPTEMBER 1, 1904, OF

"SEQUIL"

by Judge Henry A. Shute

a continuation of his humorous masterpiece,

The Real Diary of a Real Boy

THE publication of "SEQUIL" in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post, in which it made an immense hit, has made it familiar to several millions of readers. It continues the record of the boy diarist with undiminished humor, and presents additional adventures of "Beany," "Pewt," "Plupy," etc., the "realist" boys in all literature, in the same diverting manner which made "The Real Diary" the most popular book of our time.

15,000 copies of "Sequil" were sold before publication, and additional orders are coming in faster than they can be filled.

"'Sequil' is bubbling over with mirth-provoking accounts of the youngster and his playmates, and is in every respect the equal of the author's first book. One can open it at any page and find something to touch a responsive chord."—The Boston Herald.

"Judge Shute touched a popular chord with his boyhood reminiscences, and they had such a freshness, naturalness, and vigor, that the heart of every man was stirred. It brought back memories of boyhood which were all but forgotten, and made the reader of the "Diary" look anxiously for the next installment. Therefore 'Sequil' ought to be a popular book."—Topeka (Kan.) State Journal.

These books are so popular, because so entirely unlike anything else in literature, that they will sell steadily for years. Dealers can therefore safely stock up with them.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO. - PHILADELPHIA

A Publishing Investment

A stock company has been formed to take over the business of a New York publisher.

It is organized under New York laws with a capital of $60,000, divided into 600 shares, par value $100 each.

Capital and brains are needed to develop an enterprise which has many attractive features.

A small amount of treasury stock is offered at par to persons who may be interested in this form of investment.

Applications for shares will be considered from those who desire to invest and to take an active part in the business, under a reasonable salary arrangement, as well as from those who prefer to make a small investment and remain inactive.

The company is under experienced and conservative management, and has unusually valuable connections and contracts.

Systematic exploitation of its present list of publications will undoubtedly result in substantial profits to the shareholders after one year's operations.

The company is in a solvent condition; its liabilities are normal; its assets are in the form of stock-in-trade and accounts receivable.

It is prepared to negotiate with investors on any equitable basis.

Address, MERIT, care of the Publishers' Weekly, 298 Broadway, New York.

My Japanese Prince

THE story deals with the present Japanese-Russian War; the first portion containing the peculiar adventure of a young American lady in Tokyo. The scene changes to a house-party in Manchuria given by the same young lady, the daughter of a great contractor of Meriden, Connecticut, who is erecting for the Russian Government bridges on their railroads in Manchuria. It closes with one of the most extraordinary and exciting as well as affecting episodes ever written in the English or any other language.

It will make the Hit of the Year!

Appreciating the very great demand there will be for this book, and that it is a volume everybody will like to keep in his library, the publishers have concluded to issue a popular edition

In Cloth, at Fifty Cents per Copy

The usual edition uniform with Mr. Gunter's other works will be the same price as heretofore, $1.50 per copy.

Important Announcement to the Trade

In announcing MR. GUNTER'S new book

My Japanese Prince

in cloth at fifty cents per copy, we felt that we should be materially assisting dealers to very large sales.

But as many of our customers seem to prefer our regular yellow paper cover at the same price, we have decided to put the book out in both styles of cover; that is our regular paper cover at fifty cents retail, and a neat cloth cover at fifty cents retail—discounts the same on both styles—thus enabling everyone to select the style of cover he feels will be best adapted to his line of trade.

In placing your order, please distinctly state your choice, either "popular cloth edition, 50c.," or "paper cover, 50c.," or order some of each if you prefer.

Our regular library edition, uniform with Mr. Gunter's other books, will be the same as heretofore, $1.50 per copy.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON'S FALL PUBLICATIONS for 1904

A YANKEE ON THE YANGTZE

Being the Narrative of a Journey from Shanghai through the Central Kingdom to Burma, under the Special Protection of the Imperial Government.

By WM. EDGAR GEIL

A traveller who in three years has crossed China, Siberia and Tropical Africa.

With 100 full-page Illustrations largely from the Author's Original Photographs.
Cloth, cr. 8vo, $1.50 net

The author of this book, afforded conspicuous courtesies by the Chinese Imperial Government, had opportunities novel and important. He tells of his journey of 1500 miles on the Yangtze, thence 700 miles over the lofty mountains of Far Western China and westward through the land of the Wild Men (Shans) into Burma. Travelling soon after the Boxer movement Mr. Geil was granted special interviews with viceroys, and is the first American to go up the Yangtze on a special native gunboat, flying the American flag, and accompanied by a specially appointed Mandarin. A complete view of the Chinese character is given, without saying so in the approved scientific terms, whilst the opium question, and other great problems of the Celestials are discussed. Finally, there is considerable caustic for the careless critics of Christian Missions.

QUESTIONS OF FAITH. A Series of Lectures on the Creed.

By PRINCIPAL LINDSAY, DR. JAMES DENNEY, P. CARNEGIE SIMPSON, DR. MARCUS DODS, PROF. JAMES ORR, DR. JOHN LAIDLAW, PROF. HUGH MACKINTOSH. Cloth, cr. 8vo, $1.50.

CONTENTS: What is God? Prof. Orr.—Is Christ the Son of God? Prof. Mackintosh.—Did Christ Rise from the Dead? Dr. Dods.—What Do We Mean by the Holy Spirit? Dr. Laidlaw.—What is the Catholic Church? Principal Lindsay.—Can Sin be Forgiven? Dr. Denney.—Is There Life After Death? P. Carnegie Simpson.

Thoroughly popular in form, these chapters are yet the result of careful study and well considered deduction, and were delivered before publication to enormous British audiences. No more efficient guide could be found for anyone seeking to answer these questions for himself or others.

THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS AND OTHER SERMONS.

By GEORGE ADAM SMITH, D.D., Author of "The Minor Prophets," "Isaiah," "An Historical Geography of the Holy Land," etc. (Shortly)

The announcement of the new work by the celebrated professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis at the Free Church College, Glasgow, is an event of theological importance. The chapters are on Dr. Smith's favorite topics and notable for their masterful power of thought and clarity of style.

LETTERS TO THE SEVEN CHURCHES. In their Relations to the Places and History of each. By PROF. W. M. RAMSAY. (Shortly)

THIRTY YEARS IN MADAGASCAR. A Missionary Biography wonderful as that of John G. Paton. By REV. T. T. MATTHEWS. 62 Illustrations and Maps. Cloth, 8vo, $1.75

THE SPECTATOR: "The story of Christianity in Madagascar is one of the most eventful in missionary enterprise."

LEAVES FOR QUIET HOURS. By GEORGE MATHESON, D.D., LL.D., Author of "Representative Men of the Bible," "Studies in the Portrait of Christ," etc. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25

A new devotional book, similar to Dr. Matheson's great success, "Moments on the Mount."

ST. PAUL'S CONCEPTION OF THE LAST THINGS. By REV. H. A. A. KENNEDY, M.A., D.Sc., with complete index of subjects, authors and references. Cloth, 8vo, $2.25

NEW YORK OUTLOOK: "A careful conservative scholar makes solid contribution to exegetical theology."

THE PRACTICAL AND DEVOTIONAL COMMENTARY.

Edited by W. ROBERTSON NICOLL, D.D., LL.D.

JOSEPH PARKER, D.D. VOL. I.—Colossians and Thessalonians. II.—Ephesians. REV. J. H. JOWETT. III.—Peter. REV. G. H. MORRISON. IV.—Mark. (Others to be announced)

THE ESCHATOLOGY OF JESUS.

Bruce Lectures for 1904. By REV. LEWIS A. MUIRHEAD, B.D.

Cloth, Cr. 8vo, $1.75

THE CHRISTIAN WORLD: "An admirable piece of work. Mr. Muirhead brings to his task not only knowledge, but enterprise and reverence."

THE SPIRIT OF GOD IN BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

A Study in the History of Religion. By IRVING F. WOOD, of the Department of Biblical Literature and Comparative Religion at Smith College.

FOUR IMPORTANT NOVELS

By WELL-KNOWN AUTHORS

By EMERSON HOUGH, Author of "The Mississippi Bubble."

THE LAW OF THE LAND

A romance of the Mississippi Delta, involving the most vital expression of the Southerner's view of the race problem that has yet appeared in fiction. The author describes the "black volcano" over which white Southerners live, in an intensely realistic manner. His knowledge of the white man's burden, his keen descriptions of Northern misapprehension, equal his tremendous power as a storyteller and his elemental sense of humor.

By BRAND WHITLOCK

Author of
"Her Infinite Variety"

THE HAPPY AVERAGE

A thoroughly American story of a young man who found himself. Mr. Whitlock here draws interesting characters with the artistic sympathy and fineness for which he is noted. He tells how a young college graduate fell in love with a winsome girl, became engaged to her, went out into the world to fight for a place for himself, which he could ask her to share with him—and won. It is instinct with the essence of ambition.

12mo, cloth, $1.50

By HAROLD MacGRATH, Author of "The Puppet Crown" and "The Grey Cloak."

THE MAN ON THE BOX

A gay romance of Washington to day, carried off with admirable dash and spirit, and with just enough tragedy to give point to the comic touch. The hero masquerades as a coachman, takes service in his lady's livery, becomes involved in a diplomatic intrigue, and altogether has the liveliest kind of a time. One of Mr. Fisher's drawings for "The Man On the Box" is reproduced on this page.

MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Author of
"The Main Chance"

ZELDA DAMERON

In his new story Mr. Nicholson again holds the mirror up to human nature as found in the Middle West, and the reflection flashed back upon the reader is startlingly and attractively true. His heroine is a young girl full of life to her finger-tips—a mixture of pride, wilfulness, courage and sweetness. She discovers that her father is a rascal—and there is the problem of the book.
